Black Coeds Seize Vassar Building

By SHANE CROSBY

"We'd heard grumblings for about a week, but we didn't know which direction it would take. Now we know."

The action Robert Hevenor, public relations director for Vassar College, was referring to was the seizing of the college's administration building in the pre-dawn hours by 50 black coeds.

The College Council termed an "emergency group" formed for the likelihood of just such an event that occurred at 3:30 a. m. this morning, met at 10:30 to attempt to solve the problem.

It is led by the College's president, Alan Simpson, and is comprised of students, faculty and administrators.

The 50 students barricaded in the administration building are members of a group called Students for an Afro American Society (SAS). They have been demanding, among other things, an expanded black studies program, separate black dormitories and a black study center off campus.

The Vassar student body, which went coed this year, is comprised of 1,600 females, 51 of whom are black, and 90 white male students.

There has been little communication from the barricaded students. About 8:30 a. m. a black coed spoke through a window to a group of persons outside the building in what was described as general terms on the SAS demands. She was identified as a "sophomore" who was a spokesman for the group.

A college official observed that the college has three choices as the situation now stands. They can either give in to all the demands of the students, break through the barricades and forcefully evict the students or wait for them to come out.

The college's course of action is further complicated by the fact that the school has embarked on a $50,000,000 fund-raising program to expand its facilities. "This incident certainly won't help the fund-raising drive," a college spokesman said. "No matter what we do."

Apparently all the participants in the demonstration are not students, as witnessed by some 20 black males who are "guarding" the doors to the administration buildings. They are preventing all persons from entering the barricaded area.

The barricaded students control the college's telephone switchboard, a cafeteria, several offices and a lavatory on the first floor of the administration building.

A student rally, apparently in support of the blacks' position, was planned for later this afternoon.

A college official has stated that "the college will make no concessions under duress."

Classes are continuing at the school, despite a statement by a representative of STS that "we have stopped the school."

As yet, there have been no police forces called on campus. "That is a decision that President Simpson and the College Council will have to make," a spokesman for the college said.

Desegregate 'At Once', Burger Court Orders

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Civil rights lawyers, armed with a Supreme Court decision ordering Mississippi to end its segregated dual school system 'at once,' began today to review scores of pending law suits to speed integration throughout the South.

The court, in a unanimous non-nonsense ruling Wednesday, turned down the Nixon administration's request for a delay in desegregating 30 Mississippi school districts.

The court voted, in its first major action under Chief Justice Warren E. Burger's leadership, to replace the 15-year-old "all deliberate speed" doctrine on desegregation on grounds it "is no longer constitutionally permissible."

The court established a new position: School districts must cease to operate one set of schools for blacks and another for whites while they are battling integration suits in court.

Legal sources predicted the court's two-page opinion might prompt civil rights forces to mount a strong new assault on "de facto" segregation existing in many Northern cities due to residential patterns.

The NAACP's Legal Defense Fund (LDF), which represented the Negro cause in the Mississippi case, began an immediate review of about 200 school desegregation cases already filed throughout the South, where it contended a policy of "litigation forever" had held back integration.

"Now that the court has accepted the principle on which we urged no further delays and that integration should exist during litigation, we are going to press for such relief in all pending school cases," said LDF Director Jack Greenberg in a statement issued from his New York office. "We profoundly hope that the Department of Justice will come into the cases on our side..."

The Justice Department, whose effort to win a temporary reprieve for Mississippi sparked a rebellion in its Civil Rights Division, said it would await developments in the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, which had granted a delay to Dec. 1.

The Supreme Court sent the case back to the Appellate Court with instructions to tell the Mississippi districts to "begin immediately to operate as unitary school systems within which no person is to be excluded from any school because of race or color."

Neither the White House nor Mississippi Gov. John Bell Williams, who was in Washington, had any comment on the decision.

But Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said the ruling "spells disaster for public education in Mississippi and many parts of the South."

The Justice Department had argued before the Supreme Court more time was needed to perfect integration plans the Department of Health, Education and Welfare had drafted for the 3 districts. It contended the plans were hastily drawn and would have resulted in chaos if put into effect at the beginning of the school year.

Question Is Of Importance

Although little more than a month remained before the government was obliged to act anyway, the high court said in its decision that "The question presented is one of paramount importance, involving as it does the denial of fundamental rights to many thousands of school children..."

It told the Appellate Court in New Orleans to direct the schools to accept all or part of HEW's earlier plans or to amend them as it sees fit. In any case, it said, "under explicit holdings of this court the obligation of every school district is to terminate dual school systems at once and to operate now and hereafter only unitary schools."

The federal court in Jackson, Miss., which first heard the cases, will be free to consider objections and changes in the plans.

School officials in Mississippi reacted with shock, surprise and dismay to the ruling.

"It's just a physical impossibility as far as I'm concerned," said Ike Etheridge, superintendent of the Lauderdale County School system. "In the history of education no one has ever experienced anything like this. I don't see how we can do it."

Casualties Show Rise in Viet War

SAIGON (AP)—The total of Americans killed last week in combat in Vietnam climbed to 102, exceeding 100 for the first time in five weeks, the U. S. Command announced today.

The increased toll, 24 higher than the total reported for the week before, reflected a slight increase in ground fighting involving Americans, including one battle northwest of Saigon last Friday in which 10 Americans were killed.

Enemy casualties also increased sharply, to 2,303 as compared with 1,624 reported last Thursday. The Saigon government said its battlefield dead totaled 297, four less than the week before.

The U.S. Command said 39,149 Americans and 564,607 of the enemy have been reported killed in action in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961.

A total of 530 Americans were wounded last week, the U.S. Command said.

Meanwhile, the Saigon government released one of its leading political prisoners, the Buddhist monk Thich Thien Minh, in an amnesty for 30 political prisoners in honor of South Vietnam's National Day Nov. 1.

Thien Minh walked smiling from the headquarters of the Saigon Military District where he had been held for nearly eight months. He told newsmen he had been treated well.

The monk, one of the leading opponents of President Nguyen Van Thieu's government, was convicted of harboring draft dodgers, deserters and Communist sympathizers. He had been serving a three-year sentence.

The government said 63 other political prisoners were being released, the punishment for seven was being "changed," one was being allowed to return from exile and the sentences of 238 were being reduced. A spokesman said another 935 "detainees" rounded up in the provinces during the past year as Viet Cong suspects were being released or their jail terms were being reduced.

Truong Dinh Dzu, President Thieu's runnerup in the 1967 election, remained in prison despite the amnesty. A government spokesman said Dzu, arrested in May 1968 for advocating negotiations with the Viet Cong, was not on the list of prisoners who would be freed or would have their terms reduced. The amnesty was announced Wednesday as the government was also releasing 88 Viet Cong prisoners of war, more than two thirds of them women, in what it called a humanitarian gesture.

Dzu, a lawyer, ran second among 11 candidates in the 1967 presidential election. He polled more than 800,000 votes, nearly half the number Thieu received.

Dzu was convicted in July 1968, was sentenced to five years at hard labor, and was sent to Con Son, an island penitentiary. Later Thieu himself called for talks with the Viet Cong, and Dzu's continued imprisonment brought widespread criticism.

U.S. Army officials said three U.S. prisoners reportedly released by the Viet Cong had not made their way back to American lines.

The three prisoners have been identified as Spec. 4 Willie A. Watkins, 22, Sumter, S.C.; Pfc. James H. Strickland Jr., 22, Dunn, N.C., and Pfc. Coy R. Tinsley, 22, Cleveland, Tenn.

Jury Indicts Candidate On Bribery, Conspiracy

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON—Town of Wawarsing Republican candidate for councilman and an accused gambler from Ellenville, today were indicted by a Supreme Court grand jury on bribery charges involving public officials.

Murray Weisberg, the candidate, was indicted on two counts of conspiracy to commit bribery. Morris Melvasky, operator of an Ellenville taxicab service, was indicted on two counts of conspiracy to commit bribery.

The report of the grand jury handed up to Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn, was made known by Dist. Atty. Joseph P. Torraca, who had presented the case recently.

Torraca noted that the indictment resulted from an investigation conducted by his office and the State Police arising out of an alleged bribe offered to Ellenville Police Justice Ronald W. Elias and Mayor Robert Dowling of that village, both of whom were "quick to report the incidents."

According to Torraca, Weisberg went to Judge Elias recently and told him that Melvasky would pay $1,000 to the town GOP committee if gambling charges against the taxicab owner were dropped. The charges are still pending.

Subsequently, $500 was paid and turned over to the Town Republican Chairman Supervisor Frank L. Harkin, who was unaware of the previous transactions, Torraca said. The money was paid as donations to the Republican party, it was noted.

Later, Weisberg allegedly sought to have Mayor Dowling reinstate Melvasky's hack license as part of the $1,000 transaction, the county prosecutor said. The license had been revoked some time ago.

Elias immediately brought Weisberg's offer to the attention of the district attorney, and after Dowling had been approached, that incident was reported to Torraca and the investigation was immediately launched.

After the indictments against Weisberg and Melvasky were reported, Torraca in a statement to a reporter said that he expressed his appreciation to Judge Elias and Mayor Dowling "for their assistance in this investigation, and also to BCI Investigator Harry Reichman of Ellenville State Police, and to Assistant District Attorney Joseph I. Traficanta Jr., both of whom conducted the investigation."

"Evidence to date," Torraca commented, "indicates no persons other than the two named defendants were involved in the matter."

The gambling charge against Melvasky stemmed from a raid at his taxicab office on Sept. 2 directed by Sheriff William B. Martin and Undersheriff Jerome Schwartz. Melvasky and three other men were arrested.

A Rockefeller Pledge To Employees at Stewart

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (UPI)—Governor Rockefeller made a vow Wednesday to employees of Stewart Air Force Base that "no stone will be left unturned" to come up with a state plan for use of the base.

Stewart AFB is one of a number of military installations in the state—and 307 installations in the nation and abroad—hit by Defense Department reductions.

Rockefeller, here to address the newly organized Mid-Hudson Plan Association, was confronted by a dozen Federal Service Employee Association members who asked him what he planned to do about closing Stewart.

"No stone will be left unturned—and you can hold me to it," the governor said. He added he isn't going to get "wrapped up in red tape" in dealing with the federal government on plans for Stewart.

For two years we stalled and dilly-dallied around with the Brooklyn Navy Yard, and nothing got done," Rockefeller said. "This is not going to happen at Stewart."

In Washington, meanwhile, the Pentagon released a complete list of military facilities in upstate New York affected by the cutbacks. The list shows a savings of $35,030,000 annually at a loss of 5,278 jobs—4,018 of them in the military and 1,260 civilian jobs.

The breakdown, by service: Army: Camp Drum, 12 civilian jobs, $100,000 savings; Niagara Falls chemical plant, cut back by $100,000; Niagara Support Element, 11 civilian jobs, $199,000 savings; Seneca Army Depot at Romulus, 161 civilian jobs, $1.51 million savings; all by June 30.

Air Force: Stewart AFB transfer 25 EB57 aircraft from 4713th Defense Systems Evaluation Squadron to Otis AFB, Mass.; inactivate Detachment 1, 4650th Combat Support Group, moving 3 C119 aircraft to Richards-Gebaur AFB Mo.; transfer 579th Air Force Band to Griffiss AFB; transfer 425th Mun-

Call Is Renewed For Employee Unit

PLATTEKILL County Legislator Joseph Martorana, (R-Dist. 9), has again called for the creation of a standing committee on employee relations.

Pointing to his resolution which was adopted on July 10 and referred to the Legislative and Rules Committee, Martorana said, "It appears my resolution has died in committee although no formal report has been made after almost four months."

"I felt my resolution would be in the public interest since it would establish a more harmonious and cooperative relationship between government and its employees and would prevent impasses from occurring. Unless a Committee report is made at the next

FRANK KOENIG — Lifelong Resident

"So what?" his detractors have asked. "Why must that be a qualification for Mayor?"

We're not suggesting it must—but we do suggest it's worth something. When you know the people and they you; when you're aware of their needs, their hopes—it's worth something.

Frank Koenig was born and raised in Kingston; he attended Kingston schools and married a Kingston girl. These are facts—not stated for any traditional response they're expected to evoke but because of their relevancy to the office he seeks.

Frank Koenig believes in the city of his birth—The city where he plans to spend his life. He believes it can grow and prosper—an end to which he is personally and emotionally dedicated.

So we recognize that being a lifelong resident is not essential for the office of Mayor—but we think it's worth something! !

Five Homes Destroyed by Brush Fire

GRANADA HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—A 5,000-acre brush fire whipped by winds up to 50 miles per hour, plunged into two housing tracts and destroyed five homes before firemen "got the upper hand" early today.

Four of the 700 Los Angeles city and county firemen fighting the massive blaze were injured, one seriously.

Five hundred persons and 200 horses from surrounding ranches were evacuated as a three-mile front of fire swept into the outer edges of the tracts in the San Fernando Valley.

Three of the homes destroyed, valued at from $30,000 to $40,000, overlooked a country club and golf course here. The two other homes gutted were in the $20,000 bracket. Five other structures were damaged.

Massed companies of firemen were able to halt most of the fire's advances at the edges of the suburban streets. A county fire spokesman said early today the blaze had been contained on three sides and the fourth side was not threatening any structures.

"We've finally got the upper hand," the spokesman said.

More than 150 policemen were stationed in and around the area as firemen reported looters entering evacuated homes.

Lebanon Fighting Imperils Talks

By United Press International
Fighting between the Lebanese army and Arab guerrilla forces broke out today the full length of Lebanon from the northern border with Syria to the southern border with Israel, imperiling the preliminary peace talks in Cairo.

The government was reported using artillery against entrenched guerrillas in the Mount Hermon area near the occupied Golan Heights and guerrillas attacked with machine guns and mortars near the northern city of Tripoli and Sidon, 25 miles below Beirut. All indications were guerrilla reinforcements had crossed into Lebanon from Syria, which supports their activities and presumably supplied them with the heavy weapons including artillery for use against government forces.

Once again Lebanon was threatened with civil war in its attempts to suppress the guerrilla movement. Worsening the general situation in the Middle East were reports of Israeli army battles against guerrillas in the occupied Golan Heights of Syria, which borders the Lebanese war zone.

Lebanon has never gone to war against Israel but became the victim of Israeli retaliation when Israeli commandos blew up a number of planes at the Beirut International Airport. The government fears even heavier retaliation if it permits guerrilla strikes against Israel from its territory.

There had been a brief lull in the fighting as Maj. Gen. Emile Bustani, the commander in chief of the 12,000 man Lebanese army, flew to Cairo for talks with Egyptian officials that brought a promise of Egyptian mediation.

Bustani's armies are the chief opponents of the guerrillas and it was considered doubtful guerrilla leader Yassir Arafat would talk with him. Arafat, leader of the Al Fatah Palestinian group, has said guerrilla activities are "not negotiable" and that their motto is "liberty or death."

Today's fighting erupted first in northern Lebanon at 2 a.m. when raiders attacked a Lebanese air force base at Al Kuleiat, two miles south of the Syrian border and 65 miles north of Beirut, with rockets and 120 millimeter artillery.

One Lebanese soldier was wounded, an air force building was damaged by a rocket and

Agency said another battle broke out in the El Zohriya area near the northern coastal town of Tripoli and that one guerrilla sympathizer was

Laos Target Of Critics Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Lyndon B. Johnson over Vietnam are banging heads with the Nixon administration on U.S. policy in Laos.

After committee members clashed Wednesday with Secretary of State William P. Rogers, both sides indicated they hadn't been swayed during the closed-door meeting on Laos and arms limitation efforts. "I don't think there is going to be any change in policy, not now," Rogers said of U.S. involvement in Laos.

"I think the hearings will alter the administration's views," declared Committee Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., referring to hearings by a subcommittee on the Laos issue.

Rogers said U.S. involvement in supporting Laosian anti-Communist efforts goes back eight years and should have been no surprise to the veteran senators.

In addition to Fulbright, others critical of the U.S. policy included the committee's senior Republican member, George D. Aiken of Vermont; Stuart Symington, D-Mo., and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky. They said they had not known until recent hearings how large the U.S. involvement was. Rogers' contention that the senators should have known all about what has been going on in Laos was supported by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Sen. Milton Young, R-N.D., a senior member of the Appropriations Committee.

"I've really found nothing new in the hearings that I didn't know," said Mansfield, speaking of the earlier hearings held by the Foreign Relations subcommittee headed by Symington.

"Everyone that has intelligence information would be familiar with what's been going on," Young said in an interview. He said that except for the bombing of the Ho Chi Minh Trail, a key Communist supply route through Laos to South Vietnam, "it's practically no different from what goes on in other countries."

A Tyrrell Endorsement From Assemblyman Bell

KINGSTON businessmen, home owners and general citizens are not getting the kind of service they need. Our senior citizens especially are feeling the pinch from a less than dynamic development of our potential.

Assemblyman H. Clark Bell today endorsed Republican James Tyrrell for mayor of Kingston.

In making the endorsement Bell stated that "Kingston, the first capital of our state, is far from being first in many vital fields. Kingston needs help. It needs new ideas. It needs new talent. Above all it needs drive and aggressiveness."

"One of our first needs is to get the Urban Renewal program moving. Out tax base is being smashed under Urban Renewal bulldozers and new construction is not going up fast enough. Our

Dye Clarifies Tax Question

Majority Leader Douglas V. Dye today took exception to the recent statement by the Democratic mayoral candidate Francis R. Koenig that "the rate for the county charges is really one of the highest for cities in the Hudson Valley."

Dye said that "The Democratic candidate accurately stated that 'the City of Kingston paid a total of $1,172,000 in county charges during 1969. He apparently would have the voters of the city believe that the city receives nothing in return for these charges. However, he has not told the entire story. He did not mention the fact that the county has dispersed approximately $2,870,000 in Social Services benefits to residents of the City of Kingston. This figure represents approximately 2 1/2 times the amount the city pays to the county. He did not mention the fact that nearly 46 per cent of the entire county case load on Social Service benefits are residents of the City of Kingston."

"He did not mention what some of the other districts in the county pay the county in taxes, portions of which must be used to offset the Social Services deficit in the city. For example, the Second Legislative District, which I represent, with a population of approximately 20,000 people paid a total of $1,384,000 in county taxes in 1969, compared to the city population of approximately 28,000 paying a county tax of $1,172,000."

Gallo Answers Some Charges

KINGSTON Common Council, he would know that the office of city clerk is under the jurisdiction of the mayor. It would appear that my erstwhile opponent would be a very busy man checking on all letters going out of the City Clerk's Office and perhaps in his spare time he would like to check on the city treasurer's office or the mayor's secretary and how about the Department of Public Works, and maybe even the registrar's office. Perhaps he is not aware that he has no jurisdiction over these offices, either," Gallo said.

"I would remind him that the object of this 'irresponsible' administration has been to lessen the burden of the home owner. This administration has been responsible for decreasing the city debt and decreasing real estate taxes, and accomplishment which cannot be matched by any previous Republican administration."

"In spite of the campaign rhetoric, the fact remains that the Common Council has been conducted business-like and with an 'open-door' policy. No citizen has ever been denied the floor during my tenure. Even my opponent's running mate was granted the floor, only three weeks ago, and was treated with dignity and respect. If I am reelected I shall continue this policy and I invite my opponent to address the Council at any time," Gallo concluded.

Introduce Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—California two senators, Democrat Alan Cranston and Republican George Murphy, have joined in introducing a bill which would create seven marine sanctuaries along the California coast. Cranston said the legislation would not affect present oil leases in the Santa Barbara Channel, scene of oil pollution earlier this year, but it would prohibit additional oil leases in that area.

Tyrrell—Opponent Copied My Program

James J. Tyrrell, Republican candidate for mayor, said today, "The residents of our city have been misled by the Democratic candidate for Mayor." Tyrrell accused his Democratic opponent of rewriting his (Tyrrell's) primary platform, reversing his thinking on important issues and misleading the City residents in general.

Tyrrell said, "My Democratic opponent has tried to fool the voters with a proposal supporting the formation of a Citizens Advisory Committee when we already have one." However, prior to June 17th, Tyrrell said he proposed the establishment of Ward Advisory Staffs to inform him of the problem areas of particular neighborhoods.

Tyrrell said his Democratic opponent was a member of the administration that delayed Urban Renewal and now he says he wants to move the program forward after his running mate asked for the exodus of the members of the Urban Renewal Agency from Kingston. Tyrrell pointed to the fact that his primary platform called for the development of our city rather than the destruction of entire neighborhoods. Tyrrell said he called for the formation of a Kingston Development Corporation.

The Republican candidate said his platform called for increased activity for Senior Citizens at the local level and the establishment of a proper program by the State to aid our Senior Citizens with their real property taxes. Tyrrell said the Senior Citizen is entitled to a 50 per cent tax exemption if he or she has a specified income and has owned the property for five years. He continued he has always been in favor of eliminating the five year ownership requirement and an increase in the income level.

Tyrrell said his Democratic opponent has followed his proposal for a swimming pool for all residents of the city of Kingston. He charged his Democratic opponent with not having an original idea in his head. Others have answered for him and will if he is elected. My Democratic opponent is a rewrite man because when I offered positive programs for the city he never opened his mouth and when he read my ideas in the newspaper he decided to rewrite them."

Road Superintendent Endorses Sabino

TOWN OF ULSTER — Sabino's leadership in going forth with a coordinated plan of cooperation between the Ulster Town Board and the Ulster Highway Department is exemplary, said today that "Supervisor Sabino has in order to conduct the town's business."

Elliott pointed out that the town presently has approximately 60 miles of improved town highways and that only approximately eight more miles of the town highway system need at this time to be completed with widening, resurfacing and installation of drainage facilities.

Sabino congratulated Superintendent Elliott on the Town Highway Department's plan to extend to the town residents one of the best maintained highway systems within a planned economic budget. Sabino also explained that continued and expanded service to the townspeople by the widening and resurfacing of the town's highways, excellent snow removal service, leaf and debris collection service and maintenance of up-to-date highway equipment are essential and desirable services to the townspeople.

No Acceptable Planks --- Conservative Head

Town of Ulster Conservative Party chairman, George Trowbridge, charged today that the Republican candidate for Town Supervisor, Carmine Sabino has been unable to present acceptable platforms to the public, has had little experience or background to qualify for the Supervisor's job, and is so involved in housing and industrial development that he could not possibly avoid conflict of interest in the Supervisor's post.

Commenting on the lack of acceptable platforms, Trowbridge pointed out recent statements by Sabino to the effect that the majority voice would rule at public hearings. "This is a terrible way to represent people," said Trowbridge. "The community needs leadership, not a pawn of political or industrial interests. Who will represent the majority of citizens who don't or can't come to a public hearing?"

Addressing Sabino's qualifications for being Town Supervisor, Trowbridge referred to the leaflet distributed by the Town's Republican Party in behalf of the Republican candidates for town offices. "Here," said Trowbridge, "in a major document extolling the qualifications and experience, the one man on that leaflet with the least experience and fewest qualifications is Carmine Sabino, Republican candidate for Supervisor."

Finally, Trowbridge explained his conflict of interest charge against Sabino. "The man is in the business of making money by developing real estate. Since major control of real estate development is in the hands of the town government, and the supervisor is the head of the town government, Sabino could not help but have an effect on his own business interests if he were to be elected Supervisor."

"To me," said Trowbridge, "the lack of direction and negative attitude Sabino has shown toward the enactment of a zoning ordinance is an indication of his placing business interests first. As a developer, he would have nothing to gain but restrictions from the passage of a zoning ordinance in this community."

Senate Group Pushing Ahead For Massive Tax Reform Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee, sharply divided on how best to give tax relief to individuals, pushed ahead today toward final action on the massive tax reform bill.

Members argued for hours Wednesday over whether the key relief provision in the bill would be an increase in the $600 personal exemption or a cut in the tax rates in all brackets as voted by the House.

Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., in predicting a decision would come today added he was confident the committee would meet its commitment to wind up work on the 368-page bill sometime Friday.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., leading the fight to raise the personal exemption to $1,000, told reporters he thought he stood a good chance after Wednesday's long discussion of his plan.

Other members said the committee seemed to be about evenly divided with two or three undecided senators holding the key.

Nixon administration officials attending the closed-door session strongly opposed any boost in the exemption.

They said it would knock too many taxpayers, 12 million, off the rolls and that a $1,000 exemption costing $2 billion would take far too much revenue from the Treasury.

Gore declared the exemption increase "would provide the tax relief where it is really needed — to the low and middle income taxpayer, particularly with children to educate."

He told the committee 90 per cent of the relief from his plan would go to persons with less than $20,000 a year income.

Some other advocates of an exemption increase said they were supporting it because their constituents were demanding this form of relief.

The committee did agree Wednesday on its own version of tax relief for single persons.

The House voted $650 million of annual relief for single persons 35 years and over by putting them under the tax schedule now reserved for heads of households, that is, single persons with dependents in their homes.

Finance went along with a Treasury plan which would accord less relief—$445 million. The proposed tax schedule means single persons would pay no more than 20 per cent above what married couples are now paying.

GOP Candidate Urges Large Voter Turnout

RHINEBECK — William Allen, Republican candidate for town supervisor, today urged a large voter turnout Nov. 4.

"On a local level, a great deal of time and effort has been exerted by all candidates to inform the public of all the issues and to present platforms that hopefully will solve all of our problems," he said.

"Unless one has been actually involved in an election campaign it is difficult to impress upon the voting public the amount of time and effort that is required to arouse interest so that voters will be not only well-informed, but will make an effort to cast their ballot," said Allen.

He called for involvement at the "grass roots" level by residents in order to make the system productive.

"Certainly, if we are to resolve our major national problems, we are going to have to become concerned about making elections something more than a spectacular sport," added Allen.

Would Inform Public --- Simmons Pledge

RED HOOK — Warren Simmons, incumbent Republican Supervisor, is presently chiefly concerned with working for the "proper planning necessary for progress in Red Hook."

"I have made a promise to myself that, if elected, I will keep the public informed of the progress and major undertakings by the Town Board through the newspapers," says Simmons.

The Supervisor also intends to keep regular office hours at the Town Hall Saturday mornings from 9 to 12, in a further attempt to keep close contact with the residents of the town.

He has stated that he can only seek re-election Nov. 4 on the basis of having created a reputation of "earnestly trying to do what is best for a majority." It is this statement that he uses when assailed by minority groups such as mobile home owners.

Simmons has been employed at IBM for 24 years, and works in Kingston. He was elected tax assessor in the Town of Milan in 1950, and later moved to Red Hook.

He was elected Town Supervisor in 1967 for two years.

Legislative Endorsements

It is of the utmost importance that Ulster County has the best available men to serve as County Legislator for the next two years. Among the decisions to be made by the lawmakers will be the erection of a new jail and an infirmary, the establishment of an airport and the all important tax map and re-assessment.

County Legislators chosen in this general election on Tuesday next will conduct the business of Ulster County, which is growing steadily. Taxpayers, who pay the costs, should evaluate the candidates running in the city and county districts and elect those who in their judgment are best qualified to enact sound, progressive and realistic laws.

Good government requires efficient operation. Taxation today is critical and our public servants should see that a taxpayer's dollar buys him a dollar in service. A taxpayer should not be required to pay for political jobs or patronage jobs that are not absolutely necessary ones on the public payroll. Any legislator who thinks we can have good government without a tight operation of the taxpayers' dollar will find himself in Fantasy-land.

Therefore in selecting the candidates of your choice, don't be an automatic voter and deliver your vote for your party, regardless of the qualifications of the individual. Choose the man whom you believe is experienced in business and municipal affairs and has the qualifications, the time and desire to serve and who will bring into being county-wide improvements which will benefit every resident of Ulster County.

Here is a guide that should be given serious consideration. Does the candidate who will get your vote have a modern and progressive attitude as to the needs of the county? Will he make a firm contribution for developing programs for competent administration? Will he think and act objectively without regard to politics and political hacks? Has he the courage to vote for a law vital to the county although it may not be popular in his own district?

With the foregoing in mind, we endorse the following eight candidates for County Legislator who are running at-large in the City of Kingston. These men have distinguished themselves in public service and in business.

William F. Edelmuth, Democratic-Liberal; Orrie R. Riehl, Democratic-Liberal; Melvin Mones, Republican-Conservative; Andrew T. Gilday, Democratic-Conservative; Clarence C. Raichle, Republican; Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, Democratic; Addison D. Jones, Republican; Wendell E. Scherer, Republican.

Outside the corporate limits of the City of Kingston, 25 legislators will be chosen in 11 other districts, which have been formed on the basis of population. We suggest that the aforementioned guide rules be applied in the selection of candidates in these districts.

Have Good, Clean Fun

That Halloween is becoming a more constructive celebration in Kingston with less destructive acts and more genuine fun for the young folks was in evidence last year when only minor incidents of vandalism occurred here. The children are entitled to praise and we are pleased to extend it.

This is a far cry from the days of vandalism when it was considered fun to destroy a person's property. Of course, we still have some with us today who seem to take great pleasure in hurting others and in destroying property.

The police department wants the young people to have good clean fun and a good time, but they will not tolerate vandalism. Regular police will be assisted by auxiliary policemen and they will enforce the law and make arrests. Residents are advised to call police headquarters and report any incidents no matter how trivial. A timely call to the police may avoid serious trouble.

Tomorrow night the young folk again will have a "Trick or Treat" bag in which they will accept money contributions for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund. In this activity, the children not only have fun, but they help fight hunger, misery disease and ignorance in the underdeveloped world.

American boys and girls have done more than keep alive an age-old tradition. When they decided to share through UNICEF, Halloween became universal, a hal-lowed evening for the less fortunate all over the world.

Everyone should help our young people enjoy Halloween to the fullest and to encourage them to keep up the good work so that this year we again can report vandalism as non-existent.

The British Parliament has gone Nevada one better. Under a new British law, couples will be granted divorce by mutual consent after two years of separation. If one partner objects, the other may be granted a divorce after separation of five years. No specific accusations are required. Even the USSR has seen that too-easy divorce is a bad psychological factor in its economy and has tightened its rules. It creates children with no hope.

The New Watchdog?

David Lawrence Says Says Union Leaders Get Preferential Treatment

WASHINGTON — Was there "a 100,000-dollar political payoff" by labor leaders in the United States in 1968 when the State Department refused to extradite to Canada a union official who had been arrested and tried there and had fled to this country to escape punishment?

Senator Paul Fannin, Republican of Arizona, in a speech to the Senate on Monday, said it appeared to him that the State Department, upon the request of the Department of Labor, declined to return "a convicted labor racketeer" who skipped 25,000 dollar bail and came to the United States after having been convicted of conspiracy to commit assault in a war between rival unions in Canada. The Arizona Senator stated the American authorities picked up the accused at the request of the Canadian government that he be returned to face a perjury charge, inasmuch as assault is not covered under the Extradition Treaty with Canada. He added that, shortly after the State Department refused to extradite the union chief, "5,000-dollar checks began pouring into various Democratic presidential campaign committees around the country until the total contribution amounted to 100,000 dollars — which was reached within a few days."

Mr. Fannin declared that last year he had difficulty getting the exchange of correspondence about the case between the Labor Department and the State Department, but that he had at last obtained copies of the letters, which he inserted in the "Congressional Record" this week. Mr. Fannin commented:

"I do not think it is in the best interests of the American people to have such a bald exercise of the power of union officialdom."

The Arizona Senator suggested that the Johnson administration may not have been aware at the time of the circumstances surrounding the episode because since then the payments of 100,000 dollars were made to the Democratic party. He has requested the present Secretary of State to review the case and see if the Canadian request is valid, and remarked that perhaps "some leftovers" from the preceding administration are "giving poor advice" on the subject.

Mr. Fannin raised the whole matter in connection with the provisions of the Tax-Reform Bill pending in the Senate which deal with tax exemptions of non-profit organizations, including labor unions. He declared that the AFL-CIO treasury, for instance, has been committed "to the destruction of Judge Haynsworth just as labor tried to destroy Judge John Parker 40 years ago." Senator Fannin pointed out that "the special status enjoyed these union leaders under our tax laws makes possible a 'brazen display of monetary power'."

The most urgently needed reform, according to Mr. Fannin, is the section of the Internal Revenue Code "which permits union leaders to exercise this kind of political power and still retain their tax-exempt status." He added:

"Such preferential treatment is simply not right. Union leaders, in the exercise of their office, should have to abide by the same rule of 'no politics' as applies to all other tax-exempt organizations."

The argument is made on the union side that their political contributions are "voluntary" and that a union member can successfully withstand the pressures if he objects to the use of his dues for political ends with which he may not agree. But this, Senator Fannin says, "is simply not in accordance with reality."

The subject of political contributions by labor-union groups is one that, to a large extent, has been sidetracked by Congress and by the law-enforcement agencies, including the Department of Justice. The theory of the labor leaders is that, because the contributions to political campaigns are not compulsory and because the solicitation is conducted by persons who claim they are not acting for any labor union but are operating as a separate committee of citizens, this puts the funds collected from union members supposedly beyond the reach of present laws.

The whole problem, however, has not gotten much attention in the past and is not being given much consideration now. The truth is that, while they may not admit it, many members of Congress are dependent upon labor-union support in their political campaigns. There has been a reluctance inside the executive branch also to enforce the Federal Corrupt Practices Act, which prohibits labor unions or corporations from making contributions in national political campaigns.

Moscow and Dissent March

Reds 'Antiwar Avalanche'

By LEON DENNEN
(NEA Foreign News Analyst)

NEW YORK (NEA) — They will march on Washington again to "demand the immediate, total withdrawal" of American troops from Vietnam.

Only the new demonstration scheduled for mid-November will coincide with similar "antiwar" rallies in other parts of the world, a scenario concocted in Sweden by Kremlin "writers."

The stage for the international Hate-America day was set at a recent conference of a liaison committee on Vietnam which, in addition to some Americans, includes representatives from Hanoi and the Viet Cong.

The committee met in "neutral" Sweden but its sponsors and manipulators are reportedly in the Moscow offices of the KGB, Russia's secret police.

Among the marchers to Washington, undoubtedly, will be many Americans who are genuinely disturbed by the dreadful war. Some will be well-intentioned clergymen, professors, students and the usual assortment of politicians. There will even be a sprinkling of Hollywood movie "stars."

It is increasingly clear that Moscow's and Hanoi's battleground has shifted from Vietnam to the United States where they seek to force President Nixon into total surrender.

According to official spokesmen in Communist Hungary and Poland, "The American government lost the war not only on the battlefield but also in the United States."

This was also expressed clearly by Hanoi's official newspaper Nhan Dan after the Oct. 15 Moratorium.

The demonstrators "are bound to win the struggle and thereby make a worthy contribution to the common victory," Nhan Dan said.

The question Americans must ask themselves is — whose victory?

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy castigated the Nixon administration for even suggesting that the Reds are exploiting to their advantage the antiwar demonstrations.

Yet this is precisely what the pro-Communist Daily World said. According to the mouthpiece of the American Communist Party, the Russia-firsters contributed their share in creating the "antiwar tidal wave."

Jack Anderson Says McCormack, a Cheerful Fixer, But Doesn't Take Payoffs

WASHINGTON — Life magazine has accused Speaker John McCormack, third in line of succession and second in power to the President, of conscious participation in the political fixes that were arranged by his suspended aide, Martin Sweig, for five percenter Nathan Voloshen.

My own investigation has confirmed that the craggy, congenial McCormack, a product of South Boston's "Last Hurrah" politics, would cheerfully fix anything from a traffic ticket to a government contract for a friend or constituent. That's how the game is played in the scrubby precincts that have kept McCormack in Congress for 41 years.

But I am convinced that the old man has never taken a penny for his political favors. He is an old-fashioned patriot and puritan, whose conduct has been governed by a strong Catholic conscience. Indeed, he has been overheard in the Speaker's chair mumbling prayers to the Virgin Mary.

Life's crack investigative team was alerted to the Sweig-Voloshen operations by a former Time-Life employee who became associated with Voloshen. While the Life sleuths carefully checked out the specific fixes reported by their informant, I sent legman David Detweiler into McCormack's office last August with specific instructions to watch Sweig.

Inside Sweig's Office.

Posing as a student, Detweiler became a fixture in the office and, over the weeks, obtained an insight into its operations. Sweig took calls from all over the country, handling each one with a confidential, almost furtive air. During a typical 30-minute period, he talked to a young reservist who wanted a transfer, a corporation president seeking inside information about his company's case before a federal agency, a top Democrat checking up on an attorney supposedly close to the Speaker.

Not only Sweig but the Speaker himself always gave top priority to helping the people who called or wrote for favors. Once McCormack chewed out a new assistant who had turned down a request to fix a traffic ticket. The new man drafted a letter explaining why it is immoral to fix traffic tickets and signed the Speaker's name to it. When McCormack learned about the letter, he blew his stack.

For several weeks, however, I tried to find someone who had paid off the Speaker for a favor. I sought out non-Boston businessmen, in particular, who had received help from McCormack. Invariably, they had offered him the customary campaign contribution. But he had turned them all down, explaining he had no opposition and, therefore, no campaign expenses.

McCormack and Trujillo.

One Washington, D. C., businessman told me he had pressed McCormack to take the money and distribute it to other deserving Democrats. Two weeks later, the businessman got half of his money back and a letter listing how the other half had been distributed. Every Democrat on the list also wrote the businessman, thanking him for the donation.

The most serious charge against the Speaker was raised by Gen. Arturo Espallat, a former crony of the late Dominican Dictator Rafael Trujillo. In his book, "The Last Caesar," Espallat wrote that "a very prominent U. S. Congressman" had written to Trujillo on plain white paper from Boston and had collected "birdseed" (Espallat's euphemism for money) from the dictator. The golden "birdseeds" allegedly was delivered to McCormack "through his Washington administrative assistant."

I was unable to reach Espallat, who is in hiding from his political foes. But sources close to him identified the prominent Congressman as McCormack. I made a thorough check in Washington, Boston and the Dominican Republic. I could find absolutely no evidence that the Speaker ever received money from Trujillo. I am convinced that, if any "birdseed" was sprinkled around McCormack's office, the old man never knew about it.

Agnew Echoes Nixon

Vice President Spiro Agnew, whose attacks upon the doves have drawn a withering return fire, simply has repeated in public what he has heard his boss say in private. For in the backrooms of the White House, President Nixon has been talking like a hawk.

He has made caustic cracks about what he calls "the cut-and-run" boys. He has also reiterated privately his public statement that he isn't going to let the anti-war clamor influence his decisions on Vietnam.

"What counts is not the weight of the mail," he has told his advisers, "but the weight of the evidence."

In these strategy sessions he has accused the sponsors of the pull-out resolutions not only of undercutting the Paris negotiations but of prolonging the war.

"The sponsors of these resolutions," he has grumped, "should also tell our negotiator in Paris to come home. Any chance for negotiations is destroyed if the enemy believes the pull-out resolutions."

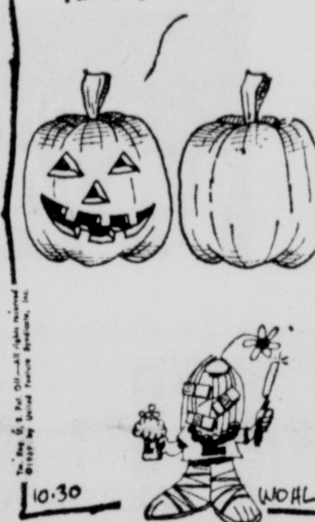

Secretary of State Bill Rogers has suggested a showdown on the proposal of setting an arbitrary date for a final American withdrawal from Vietnam. He wanted to know whether the votes could be mustered to defeat a pullout resolution.

The President felt the resolution could be easily defeated in the House but might run into trouble in the Senate. He toyed with the idea of circulating a "United Front Letter" in Congress. He thought as many as 300 signatures could be obtained to a letter endorsing his handling of the Vietnam negotiations.

He wished the American people would understand, he told his advisers, that "we have only one President — only one negotiator — at a time."

Henry J. Taylor Says

Nixon Has Stake in Stock Market

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

President Nixon has an immense stake in the stock market. No administration in history has ever been re-elected in a bear market. And today's market is amazingly more important to him, to all of us, and to the country, than the mere clatter of its tickers.

The importance starts, of course, with the confidence factor. The stock market is undeniably and element in this, and the confidence factor, in turn, can be decisive in the expansion of prosperity. Jobs, payrolls, the tax revenue on which Washington depends, debt retirement and the whole virtuous circle of expansion or the vicious circle of doubt and contraction are involved in the confidence factor. But that is only the beginning.

On October 29, 1929, Variety published its immortal headline: "Wall Street Lays An Egg." But only a million Americans then had a direct interest in stocks. Today the number exceeds 25 million. Another 82 million have an indirect interest in the stock markets. This exceeds the working population by 29 million. Then there are the institutions. For example, Harvard University owns 275,000 shares of General Motors. Also, pension funds of private industry cover 30 million people.

Companies likewise have about 77,000 deferred profit-sharing plans covering at least 6 million corporation employees. Their trust funds exceed $20 billion. New plans approved for companies within the past year alone totalled 10,864.

In human-terms, take a look at the instance of 2,184 Sears, Roebuck employees who retired last year. Those with 25-30 years service each took out an average of more than $100,000 in cash, Sears stock, or a combination of both. Their average contribution to the stock plan was only $6,015. One truck driver with exceedingly long service retired with $289,000. His own contribution was $5,928.

Harvard is the most richly endowed university in the world. Its investment fund now exceeds $1 billion. However, a mere 9 per cent of 397 liberal arts institutions hold 83 per cent of the endowment money. Out of a total $12 billion only 19 universities have available the income from $100 million or more. And all are tragically pinched to meet increased operating and expansion costs.

Even Yale, the world's third most richly endowed university, has been forced to spend some of its endowment principal. And Harvard itself made the grade last year only by deriving a full 37 per cent of its income from government sources, which is a shattering revelation on the face of it.

The indicated hope for survival is the endowments' purchase of common stocks. A U. S. Office of Education survey of 135 institutions finds that their portfolios now average 54 per cent in common stock compared to 38 per cent in 1950. Some show as high as 80 per cent, which seems the ceiling, and IBM is the largest holding, followed by General Motors and Standard Oil of New Jersey. Meanwhile, the University of Rochester has increased its endowment fund's market value from $81 million to $346 million (chiefly through shares in Rochester-based Eastman Kodak and Xerox) and made itself the fifth wealthiest university in the country today.

A Boston Fund survey, in turn, finds that the average market yield among major university endowment funds is only 3.8 per cent — about 25 per cent less income than if the trustees had just left the money in a savings bank. But, faced by inflation, fund trustees are clearly subordinating income from the money to a goal of capital gains.

This is thinking likewise dominates most mutual funds. And, indicating how immense the stake is in these, the funds now account for more than half of all the volume on the New York Stock Exchange.

The educational endowments' average turnover rate of their portfolios runs about 5.5 per cent a year. Emphasizing stocks' "performance" rather than stability and income, mutual funds are not buying and selling stocks at a yearly turnover rate of about 40 per cent of their portfolios. That's more than double the rate as recently as 1964.

This shows up not only in today's immense trading volume but also, alas, in the sudden bangs, up and down, that hit individual stocks, curl the hair of many an investor, and are causing growing criticism by the Security and Exchange Commission. For the market as a whole is too vital to the country not to need wise and vigorous policing.

Timely Quotes

The time has come for us to leave the valley of despair and climb the mountain so that we may see the glory of the dawn of a new day for America, a new dawn for peace and freedom to the world.

—Richard M. Nixon.

Our present predominant response which considers the students as the enemy, exhorts them to behave and then resorts to force, is in fact promoting the very communism and anarchy we profess to abhor.

—Harris Wofford Jr., president of State University College at Old Westbury, N. Y., urging peaceful response to student agitation.

The Gallup Poll

Humphrey Looks Strong

PRINCETON, N.J.—The race for leadership of the Democratic party shapes up today as a tight three-way contest, with Hubert Humphrey edging out Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts and Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine by a slight margin.

The latest standings, based on the views of Democrats interviewed in a mid-October survey, closely parallel those recorded in the previous survey in August.

Today's findings represent a substantial loss in support for Kennedy from a still earlier measurement in February, but solid gains for Humphrey and Muskie over this same period of time.

In the latest survey, Humphrey is the choice of 29 per cent of Democratic voters, followed by Kennedy with 27 per cent, Muskie with 24 per cent, Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota with 10 per cent, and Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota with 5 per cent.

In the current survey, conducted October 17-20, a sample of 1501 adults were handed a card listing five Democrats frequently mentioned in speculation over the 1972 presidential nomination. This question was then asked:

Which ONE of the men listed on this card would you like to see lead the Democratic party between now and the next presidential election?

Here are the latest results, based on the views of 653 Democrats, and trend:

Choices of Democratic Voters
	Latest Aug.	Aug. 1968	Feb. 1969
Humphrey	29	27	21
Kennedy	27	30	45
Muskie	24	25	17
McCarthy	10	9	7
McGovern	5	3	1
No preference, other	5	6	9

100% 100% 100%

Independents Pick Muskie

Independent voters, those who do not identify with either major party, represent a sizable group of voters in the nation and can, of course, play a decisive role in elections.

When the views of Independents alone are considered, Senator Muskie emerges as the clear winner, followed by Hubert Humphrey. The following table shows the latest results and the trend which also reveals continuing gains for Muskie:

Choices of Independents
	Latest Aug.	Aug. 1968	Feb. 1969
Muskie	36	30	20
Humphrey	19	18	20
Kennedy	16	18	39
McCarthy	13	14	15
McGovern	7	5	4
No preference, other	9	15	12

100% 100% 100%

When the views of all voters in the latest survey are examined — Democrats, Independents, and Republicans alike — Muskie holds the lead with 29 per cent, compared to 24 per cent for Humphrey, 20 per cent for Kennedy, 13 per cent for McCarthy and 6 per cent for McGovern.

Not Fighting Communism
Editor, The Freeman:

I am glad to know that Eugene Loughlin is aware of the exodus of 900,000 Vietnamese from North Vietnam after the signing of the Geneva Accords. Mr. Loughlin queries whether I am aware of this exodus. Indeed I am. And it should interest Mr. Loughlin to know that the North Vietnamese freely permitted this emigration, an act that is not typical of commissars or dictators. I would also like to point out that these 900,000 were in the nature of "Quislings"—persons who although natives of their country nevertheless find it expedient to curry the favor of their conquerors. In this case, these migrants included such traitors as Col. Ky who fought with the French against his own people.

It is not only important to read history; it is necessary to interpret historic data objectively. This is not as easy as it appears. One must free oneself from bias. To persist in the misguided notion of equating criticism of our dismal involvement in Vietnam with a preference for communism exposes a stubborn evasion of fact.

I would recommend for anyone who would wish to know more about the events leading to our involvement in Vietnam

Lindsay's Next Big Move Worries Rocky

By CHARLES DUMAS
Associated Press Writer

ALBANY, N.Y. (P) — Gov. Rockefeller and other state Republican leaders are speculating nervously on John V. Lindsay's next major political move, now that it seems the New York mayor may pull off a dramatic re-election victory.

In private conversations, Rockefeller has been known to wonder aloud whether Lindsay might decide to switch his allegiance to the Democratic party.

Lindsay himself has said that, although he was denied renomination in the GOP primary, he still would conduct himself as a Republican if he should be re-elected.

But Rockefeller and his cohorts have observed with growing discomfort that Lindsay has managed to attract as many big-name Democrats as Republicans to his campaign banner.

They also have noted that, if Lindsay manages a second term as mayor, he would have fewer openings for significant political advancement as a Republican than he might enjoy as a Democrat.

For example:—Lindsay could not expect to move up to the governorship, since the post is occupied by Rockefeller, who already has begun to run hard for a fourth term.

The mayor might see himself as a future U. S. senator. But both of the state's Senate seats are held by Republicans, and the only one up for grabs in the immediate future is held by Charles E. Goodell, who has risked his political future by supporting Lindsay in the current mayoral battle.

While Lindsay might have presidential aspirations, Republican Richard M. Nixon obviously is pointing for a second term in the White House. No other Republican need apply.

But, as a Democrat?

The Democratic party, both in New York and nationally, is now accepting applications for all three positions. Spectacular winners in major elections need only forward their credentials to friendly, neighborhood Democratic leader.

Lindsay might scoff at such speculation. But high ranking Republicans not privy to his private thinking take the idea seriously. Rockefeller is among them.

Currently Rockefeller is wondering whether Lindsay might seek reprisal for the governor's failure to support him in the mayoral battle by allying himself with a Democrat in next year's gubernatorial race.

Rockefeller commissioned a private poll that showed former U.N. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg would be his strongest opponent in next year's race.

Goldberg threw his prestige behind Lindsay in the mayoral struggle. Does this mean, Rockefeller is asking, that Lindsay might encourage Goldberg to run against Rockefeller?

More important, persons close to the Governor wonder would Lindsay himself seek the governorship next year—either as a Democratic contender, or in a Republican primary?

The trepidation of Rockefeller and his political associates may seem unfounded, but to them it is very real. They are talking about it—and talking about it.

3 Injured, Driver Cited in Paltz Crash

NEW PALTZ

A head-on, two-car collision at 9 p.m. Wednesday on South Ohioville Road in this town, caused injuries to three persons and resulted in a citation for one driver on a charge of reckless driving.

The vehicles were operated by Paul Dropkin, 19, of 8158 250th Street, Queens, and 19-year-old Michael Silverman of 233 North Cedar Street, Massapequa, Nassau County.

Highland State Trooper G.P. Rebhan reported Dropkin was southbound on the highway and Silverman was heading north, when the later pulled out to pass another vehicle on a hill and the cars crashed head-on. Silverman was cited by Trooper Rebhan for reckless driving.

Both drivers and 19-year-old Barbara Fein of 245 3662 Avenue, Queens, a passenger in Dropkin's car were taken to Vassar Hospital and treated for lacerations of the head. Silverman was released after treatment.

A communication to the Ellenville Board of Education, accompanying the announcement, said in part that "his sincere desire and dedication to his job and the association reflects credit not only on him but to your school district as well."

Two Men Killed In Putnam Crash

BREWSTER, N. Y. (UPD) — Two young men were killed and two others critically injured today when their car slammed into a bridge abutment on Route 6 in the town of Southeast.

Dead were John DuPont, 24, of Vista, Westchester County, and Frederick Anderson, 26, of New Milford, Conn. In critical condition in Putnam County Hospital were James Frank, 21, of New Milford, and Michael DuPont, 21, brother of one of the victims.

Police said the car pulled away from a stop light "drag strip style," went out of control a short distance away, jumped a center mall and slammed into the abutment. The trunk and gas tank of the car were thrown 80 feet from the point of impact, authorities said.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks opened mixed today in moderate turnover.

The peace rally, which fizzled over the past few days as Wall Street waited for President Nixon to deliver his Vietnam policy address next Monday, may get new life from a development at the Paris peace conference.

Chief U.S. negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge called for "a new approach" to the talks and suggested that private negotiations begin immediately after the Nixon speech. Although the Communists rejected the proposal, it added to speculation that the President might reveal a plan for further disengagement from Vietnam.

U.S. Steel climbed 3/4 to 38 1/4, and Bethlehem also 3/4 to 30 1/4.

Three Kingston Events Set for Halloween Night

KINGSTON Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan in a statement on the observance of Halloween Friday night asked parents to be sure their children extend special courtesies to the elderly and those who may be in incapacitated or not physically able to invite children into their homes.

Kingston Recreation Commission has scheduled an activities program for the evening in three phases to include children of all ages and in two sections of the city.

"As mayor of our city, I want the children to have a nice time in their own neighborhoods, visiting their friends and families until 9 p.m. when the curfew will be in effect throughout the city."

The Kingston Police Department, Fire Department and the volunteer fire companies of this city will be out in full force to protect the children and the property owners, especially the elderly residents.

"Parents in each block know where the elderly live and should request their children to extend special courtesies to these families," the mayor concluded.

The first phase will be a costume contest and party with special prizes at 6:30 p.m. in Kingston Municipal Auditorium, 467 Broadway.

Andrew J. Murphy III, superintendent of Kingston Recreation Department said the costume contest will be open to all children 12 years or under. There will be five categories for judging: Most humorous, most horrible, most patriotic, most novel and originality.

The celebration moves to the Recreation Center at 97 Broadway immediately after 11:30 p.m.

At the Downtown Rec Center the party will continue from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. and will include games and a costume contest judged on the same categories as listed above.

The third phase of the Halloween observance will be a teenage dance from 9:30 to 11:30 p.m.

The celebration moves to the Recreation Center at 97 Broadway immediately after 11:30 p.m.

Nixon Back on Trail — Crowds, Protestors, Eggs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's return to the political stage for the second straight night drew the large and enthusiastic response any politician would want—except for a couple of eggs tossed his way.

One egg burst on the top of the presidential limousine as Nixon drove up to a Republican rally in Morristown, N.J., Wednesday night, but the chief executive was not hit. At least one other egg hit the automobile carrying his Secret Service bodyguards.

While the turnouts for Nixon in the GOP strongholds of Morristown and Hackensack were large and overwhelmingly friendly, he perhaps got a closer look at more antiwar demonstrators than at any time since taking office.

The protesters, gathered in clusters ranging up to several hundred along his route, were highly visible because of the flickering candles.

Nixon, who campaigned in Virginia for Republican gubernatorial candidate Linwood Holton Tuesday night, went to New Jersey to promote the cause of six-term GOP Rep. William T. Cahill. Cahill seeks to be elected Nov. 4 as the state's first Republican governor in 16 years.

Mindful that Cahill is constantly on support from New Jersey Democrats, Nixon told his audiences that his White House desk once was used by Woodrow Wilson, a Democratic governor of New Jersey before he became president.

Proclaiming Wilson to be "one of my favorite presidents," Nixon noted Wilson had been a reform governor and declared, "This state needs reform again."

Cahill's opponent is Democrat Robert Meyner, a former two-term governor.

In Hackensack, there was no motorcade. Nixon's helicopter landed on a football field beside the high school gymnasium where he spoke.

Heeding the advice of his Secret Service contingent, Nixon avoided shaking hands with a big crowd held behind a low fence at one end of the field. It was evident that there was a number of peace demonstrators in the throng.

Inside the gym, a few well-dressed young people hoisted peace signs as Nixon began speaking and then quietly filed from the room.

After the egg-throwing at Morristown Nixon's route of departure was changed and, as his limousine drove away, five uniformed officers and two plain-clothesmen were seen rushing one young man out of the crowd around the hotel.

Little Girl's 'Abduction,' A Case of Mistaken Identity

GENEVA, N.Y. (AP) — Little Anna Marie Mateo walked into Geneva police headquarters Wednesday, and authorities found that what they had feared was an abduction was really a case of mistaken identity.

Police agencies throughout this Finger Lakes area and across the state had searched for the 4-year-old child after she was seen entering a man's automobile near her home and being driven away.

Police said the mix-up occurred Wednesday morning when insurance agent John Parrott, helping to round up 13 winners of a fire prevention poster-painting contest, came upon Anna Marie standing at a bus stop.

Assuming she was waiting for him, he called to her police said, and she jumped into the car and they drove off after waving goodbye to the girl's mother, Mrs. Ramon Mateo.

Later Mrs. Elizabeth Heaton, director of a nearby Head Start school that Anna Marie attends, called Mrs. Mateo to ask why the child was not at school.

Police were alerted and 90 officers in eight counties joined the search, setting up roadblocks and questioning witnesses.

Meanwhile, Parrott and two other businessmen took the contest winners—and Anna Marie—to the Corning Glass Museum 60 miles south of Geneva. The youngsters had won the trip as their prize.

When Parrott brought the girl home about 5 p.m., he found himself confronted by a group of the Mateos' neighbors, many of them of Puerto Rican origin, as are the Mateos.

Anna Marie was reunited with her parents, and all went to police headquarters, where the misunderstanding was straightened out and the search called off.

Study Group Gives Views On Indians

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Citizens' Advocate Center recommended that the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) give Indians more initiative and opportunity to govern their own affairs.

"The Indians do not need more white man's plan for their betterment," the report said.

"Our brother's keeper has fabricated an artificial world for the Indian—a world that degrades, alienates and destroys him."

The center accused Congress of preoccupation with oil leases and water and land development to the neglect of Indian education, training and housing.

Also working against the Indian, it said, were the bureaucratic structure of the BIA and its lowly position within the Interior Department, as well as "the politics of resource development."

The bureau, it noted, has one employee for every 18 Indians.

"The BIA could contract out virtually all of its functions to Indians today," the report said.

"The bureau has the power to make bureau officials accountable to the Indians they serve...the BIA has not only the power but also the obligation to permit tribes to participate in the drawing up of their own budgets, establishing their own priorities."

For all its failures and ingrained bureaucracy, the BIA is the only thing standing between the Indian and "total, unilateral renunciation of all federal treaty obligations" and extinction of the Indian as a racial and cultural entity, the center said.

For this reason, it said, Indians would defend the bureau against any attempts to abolish it.

It Was One Last Effort

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP) — A month ago Sandra Vitorelo, 22-year-old leukemia sufferer, wrote to President Nixon protesting cuts in federal funds for medical research.

The reply from the White House arrived Monday at the University of California Cancer Research Institute, where she was a patient.

"I opened the letter for her—she was so feeble," said her mother, Mrs. Emile Silver. "She read it in a great deal of pain. It was three pages of explanation."

"Then she sort of shrugged and said, 'Just about what I expected. That's his rationalization, not mine.' And she told us to see that the newspapers got the story."

On Wednesday, Sandra died. Newspapers and the California Nurses Association monthly bulletin had printed the Sept. 27 letter in which Sandra, a college-trained nurse, told the President:

"We who are afflicted with such diseases as leukemia and cancer live only in the hope that a cure can be found in time..."

"By cutting off the great federal allotment to this cause, you have greatly jeopardized our hopes of a breakthrough."

The reply was from White House staff assistant Noble M. Melencamp, who said the President "has asked me to relay to you his personal good wishes and hopes for your speedy and complete recovery."

The letter listed "peace for this country and the world" as the Nixon administration's first priority and halting "erosion of the purchasing power of the dollar" as its second.

"The administration is convinced," the letter said, "that the excellence and productivity of the nation's biomedical research effort generally, and particularly the high priority cancer research programs, will not be jeopardized by the current situation."

Mrs. Silver said Sandra was stricken with leukemia two days after her 21st birthday, Sept. 9, 1968.

Bank Merger Nixed

NEW YORK (AP) — Permission for the merger of banks in Jamestown and Olean has been denied by State Banking Superintendent Frank Wille.

Wille said the proposed merger of the First National Bank of Jamestown with the First National Bank of Olean would eliminate possible future competition in the ninth banking district.

The Jamestown bank has assets of $81 million and the Olean bank of $41 million. Lincoln First Bank Inc. had asked to vote its stock in the Jamestown bank in favor of the merger and was refused.

Boy, 5, Returns His Credit Card

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—With the credit card Anthony Benitez got in the mail, he could have flown to Europe, filled his clothes closets and dined at his choice of Gourmet restaurants.

Mrs. Benitez, however, returned the "Master Charge" card explaining:

"Anthony is just learning to write his name—barely—and he can't read yet. He's only five."

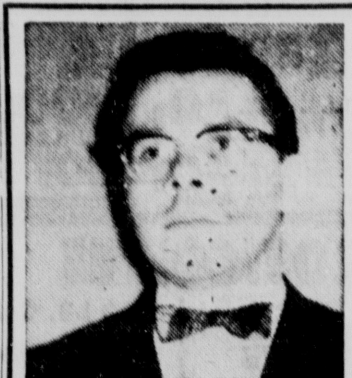

Mrs. Benitez said bank officials called her Wednesday, saying they were "embarrassed, but that Anthony had passed the credit check with flying colors." She wouldn't name the bank that issued the card, however, "because we have several accounts there."

Dutchess Refuse District Recommended by Planners

POUGHKEEPSIE/Health Department at less than 10 years. A comparison of disposal of refuse disposal on a county-wide basis 1950 data and projections for 1990 shows an increase of 403 per cent in daily refuse production. The Dutchess County Department of Planning study released this morning.

The report, prepared under a grant from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development and with the cooperation of the State Office of Planning, examines existing local disposal problems, available methods of disposal in relation to new regulatory controls, and considers a number of specific proposals and solutions.

County administration of refuse disposal on an area-wide basis is proposed as an economical move in both capital and operating costs. The report suggests this approach will provide full time service, eliminate undesirable proliferation of disposal sites and foster federal and state financial assistance. The report recommends the immediate creation of a county-wide refuse district with initial operation of the Airport Sanitary Landfill site, and eventual extension of the service to all Dutchess communities; application by the county for a State Comprehensive Solid Wastes planning grant to analyze other service facilities; and a system of transfer stations; investigation of federal assistance in the solution of health engineer with the County Department of Health.

The seminar and panel discussion was moderated by Representative Robert D'Archevesque (Rep. Wappinger), chairman of the Board of Representatives' Refuse Disposal Committee.

Some Good Advice If Witches Beset You on Halloween Strolls

Associated Press Writer

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) —

If witches beset you on Halloween, here's what to do:

Take three nails from a coffin and stick them into a sauce of months butter and wintergreen. Say the witch's name when you place

the sauce in a hidden spot—

where neither sunlight nor moonlight will penetrate.

Your witch will be sick for six months.

Handed down for generations!

—at least since the 15th century;

this superstition has now been hoped to cash in on the current tricks as how to become invisible and how to become a werewolf.

The werewolf recipe calls for body with the fat of a fresh wolf's test and put on a wolf's skin. Pretty soon "the great Cookery," which reveals such

DOG TRAINING SHOW —

Rebel, C. D. German Shepherd owned and handled by Mary VanDeCarr received his Companion Dog Degree from the American Kennel Club in three consecutive shows. Sunday, Nov. 2, at the Municipal Auditorium, 467 Broadway, Kingston, the Ulster Dog Training Club will hold its first AKC Obedience trial where 112 dogs will compete for obedience degrees from the American Kennel Club. The show will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Marie Sanford, West Hurley, may be contacted for information.

Marines Shift Ball Date

KINGSTON

Commandant John Kerbert of Ulster Detachment of the Marine Corps League reports the 22nd annual Marine Ball will be held Saturday night, Nov. 22 instead of the previous Saturday. The event will be at the Walnut Grove on Field Court.

The change in the date was necessary due to the booking of a floor show, which is the main feature of the annual ball.

Gilbert E. Gray, general chairman of the social event, noted that in addition to the floor show, dancing will be featured until early Sunday morning. Tickets for the ball may be obtained from any member of the Marine Corps League or at the MCL headquarters at 77 Greenkill Avenue.

The ball will mark the anniversary of the U. S. Marine Corps, which organized 194 years ago.

Gray is assisted on the committee by Daniel Fochi, who is in charge of tickets, Joseph Sullivan, program, and John Ray Mayone, publicity.

UCCC Dean Appointed to A Commission

STONE RIDGE

Gene A. Robbins, the Dean of Students at Ulster County Community College, has been selected to serve on the Commission for Student Personnel of the New York State Association of Junior Colleges.

Dean Robbins was notified of his selection to serve on the Commission for the 1969-70 academic year by David H. Huntington, the association's president.

Following the pattern of the American Association of Junior Colleges, the state association has established commissions to carry out the association's programs and objectives. The accomplishments of each commission rests largely on the initiative of its members.

Dean Robbins was appointed to his post at UCCC in the summer of 1968. He formerly was director of admissions for the graduate and undergraduate divisions of the School of Education at New York University and also was director of admissions at Nassau Community College on Long Island.

Possessing wide experience as an administrator in both two-year and four-year colleges, Dean Robbins is the co-author of a book on graduate schools.

He has been involved in many diverse projects including: community studies to determine the need for new two-year college terminal programs; the development of a college skills program; establishment of both two- and four-year college transfer programs; curriculum planning; and reorganization of procedures for awarding financial aid.

Dean Robbins studied at Ohio State University and earned his B.S. Degree from Kent State University in Ohio. He received his M.S. Degree from New York University and presently is working toward his doctorate degree at New York University.

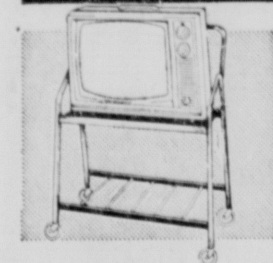

Before joining the UCCC administrative staff, he served as educational consultant and director of staff selection in the institutional management division of a management consultant firm in New York City.

Psychiatric Care Need Stressed For Kingston

STONE RIDGE

"Mental illness is nothing to be ashamed of. We all have mental deviations."

This was the comment of Dr. Anibal Herrera who also pointed to the need for psychiatric care in a general hospital in Kingston when he addressed board members of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health and some 25 others active in the field.

Dr. Herrera, talking at the Ulster County Community College site here, also described the functioning of the newly established Ulster-Sullivan Unit at Middletown State Hospital.

He discussed the new approach to treatment being based on two principles — team approach of attendants and others involved and as early as possible discharge of such patients. "The longer the patient is hospitalized, the more difficult it is to make a successful discharge," he added. Close work with kin of the patient also was stressed.

Other topics touched upon by the speaker included a penetrating analysis of the crisis of society today, the rebellion of youth against double standards of religion, social behavior and business practices and the breakdown of the family as an effective unit.

Others heard during the program were Miss Helen Genies of the Ulster County Health Dept., Harold Larsen, Ulster County Dept. of Social Services; Dr. Sidney Pauker of Kingston and the Rev. Ralph A. Narvaez, Plattkill.

The Ulster County Association for Mental Health is a voluntary membership organization, and a member agency of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Two Appointments By Telephone Firm

The New York Telephone Company has announced the appointments of Norman T. Chrystie as plant manager and Sarkis Boejejian to the post of central office supervisor.

Chrystie, who joined the company as lineman in Kingston in 1948, succeeds Santo Cali, who has been appointed plant manager in Albany. A graduate of Kingston High School, Chrystie is a director of Kingston Rotary Club and superintendent of Sunday Schools and a deacon at the First Congregational Church of Saugerties. The past two years he has been active in the Industrial Division of the Ulster County Community Chest. He and Mrs. Chrystie, the former Edith Carlson of Kingston, have two children and reside at 34 Redwood Road, Saugerties.

Boejejian, who began his telephone career in 1956 as a lineman in Kingston, succeeds Chrystie in his new post. A graduate of Cairo Central School and a veteran of four years in the Navy during the Korean War, Boejejian is a director of Junior Achievement in Kingston, and a member of the Lutheran Church Council in Athens. He is married to the former Nelta Jansen of Athens. They reside at 7 South Jefferson Avenue, Catskill, with their two children.

Completes Program

Richard A. Taffe, New Paltz, local representative for Mutual of Omaha, recently completed the fourth phase of an intensive career health insurance training program at a special three-day advance sales seminar in Miami, Fla. Taffe, associated with the J. H. Risko Agency in Poughkeepsie, previously completed training programs on the sales and servicing of individual and mass market health insurance and product reorientation and administration.

Sprute Will Retire

KINGSTON Edward L. Sprute of 3 Clifton Terrace will retire Nov. 1 from the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. He is building mechanic with the company's Long Lines Department in Rosendale.

Approximately 225 company officials, representatives of the New York Telephone Co., and Western Electric Company from distant cities, and area friends and associates honored him at a retirement dinner. The event was held at the Walnut Grove on Field Court.

Sprute was awarded many gifts and an Outstanding Achievement Award — a plaque — in honor of his many years of faithful service with AT&T. He formerly was employed with the New York Telephone Company. He is a former editor of the Eastern Breeze, a newspaper published by the company.

The retiree is a past president of the Kingston Club of the Upstate Empire Chapter of the Telephone Pioneers, an organization for those who have been engaged in the telephone industry for 21 years or more. He is president of the Mendelssohn Club of Kingston, a male chorus founded in 1903, and a life member of the Puritan Willard Lodge, 250 in New York City.

Man Describes Airways Flight

"The plane was very comfortable. Noise and vibration were at a minimum."

That was the comment of William DeGraw, an executive of Pan American Airlines, the first passenger to fly the Mountain Airways maiden flight in its new twin-engine Islander recently.

DeGraw, a former Kingstonian, had been visiting with his mother in this area and took advantage of the flight to Kennedy Airport. Other daily flights are scheduled at 1:20 and 7:30 p. m. Flight time is 45 minutes between Kingston and Kennedy Airport in New York City.

The Islander, manufactured by the Britten-Norman Company of England, is the first aircraft of its size designed especially for commuter airlines. It accommodates 10 passengers in luxury seating with a 2,500-pound cargo capacity. Another feature of the Islander is its exceptionally short take-off and landing requirements. Take-off is 520 feet, landing, 380 feet.

Mountain Airways also announces the addition of two fulltime pilots to its staff. They are Al Hurd, formerly of Erie, Pa., now residing with his wife and two children at Stony Run Apartments, and Stuart Carlin, of Poughkeepsie. Frank Bloom is chief pilot and president of Mountain Airways, which is based on Route 9W, Port Jervis.

The base operations quarters has been attractively renovated for the comfort and convenience of its patrons with offices and waiting rooms included in the project. A 24-hour information service is maintained.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE CITIZENS TOWN OF HURLEY

BOB SCHNELLER

SINCERE

Oct. 30, 1969

Hurley Voters:

For the past two years, I have been honored to serve as your Town Supervisor. I am seeking your support for re-election.

Before making your decision on November 4th, you have a right to ask for an accounting of my stewardship and so, I offer for your consideration, the following.

For the first time in many years, Town Board meetings have been conducted with Dignity and Fairness to all. No longer are the citizens of Hurley subjected to ridicule because they choose to speak out!

A business-like approach to the handling of town funds has resulted in the investment of town monies in certificate of deposits which has realized approximately $5,000 in interest.

In 1968 I proposed to the Town Board, the utilization of town highway equipment for the leveling and filling of the town dump. It was my object to save the town $7,000 to $8,000 in contractors' fees. I am pleased to report that I have finally convinced my opposition of the merits of this proposal and the 1970 budget should reflect this saving.

Many things remain to be accomplished. For instance, our town constables must be made to realize that it is their duty to enforce town ordinances. To abdicate this responsibility by insisting upon signed complaint of neighbor against neighbor, is no longer good enough for the Town of Hurley.

The added tax burdens, caused by the bungling of assessments on the New York City property within our town, must be relieved. The vigorous effort must be mounted to seek a forgiveness of this burden and the re-assessment of New York City property to current assessments.

If you care enough about the future of our town, as I do, you will insist that town Justices exercise their duties and vote on all issues coming before our Town Board. To do otherwise, is to impede our progress.

Progress does not suddenly become a reality, it is a slow never-ending process which is enhanced by reasonable men. It can never come with constant opposition.

I earnestly solicit your support for re-election with the conviction that I can contribute more towards our progress. In doing so, I also ask your support for the rest of the Democratic team so that together, we can help the town of Hurley attain its highest potential.

Sincerely,
ROBERT SCHNELLER
Supervisor, Town of Hurley

Curran's Rx on Rosendale Bottleneck

Widen Main Street and Create Village Traffic Code

By SHANE CROSBY

ROSENDALE
Driving along Main Street in this village has never been "a pleasure trip" for many motorists and most remedies for the traffic congestion have met with outcries from shopkeepers, but Mayor William P. Curran says he has "a practical solution" for what seems to be a headache at times for all concerned.

The mayor said this week that he is requesting the state to abandon plans to construct a Main Street bypass in Rosendale and instead widen the street that now can be clogged by three cars attempting to pass each other at the same time.

Contending that his plan "would save the village and keep Main Street alive," Curran also is pushing for village trustees to create a village traffic code that will include a two-hour parking limit on Main Street.

Not the Best . . . But

"It's not the best solution, but it's practical," he said while detailing his attack on the growing traffic bottleneck.

Special

Along with "stop" and "yield" signs throughout the village, the mayor and fellow trustees William Ritter and Kenneth Smith are looking at the two-hour limit with interest.

Shopkeepers along the congested Main Street section have been opposed to most plans to alter parking that can best be described as "individual" under present conditions.

Seeking to have their prospective customers park at the most convenient locations to the shops, businessmen have looked on off-street parking, alternate side of the street parking and meters with less than happy reactions, according to the mayor.

His plan — the first major attempt at traffic control on the street since it was a dirt road some 60 years ago — will "eliminate the 'all-day parker,'" says Curran. The "all-day parker" will now be confined to two off-street lots to keep the business section of Main Street open to shoppers who come and go throughout the day.

A ROSENDALE JAM—YOUR MOVE

While two-hour limits on parking will not have a major effect on persons who must pass village businesses after being unable to find parking in front of the shops.

has been recently complicated by a rash of trucks passing through connected with the Rosendale Flood Control Project work.

"The idea is," he said, "to get the 'all day parker' into the two parking lots."

The time limit on parking was placed along side the plan to have the state widen the road in the near future — a plan Curran feels could save the state in construction costs—a saving by not having to build a bypass that would leave businesses "high and dry" with no through traffic at all.

Any solution to the traffic problem should be welcomed by many motorists who can be seen pulling off the street to allow other cars to pass in the opposite direction. A running battle is not rare on the street as huge trucks or buses face smaller cars or large vehicles.

One Main Street night spot boasts taking care of as many as 200 persons at one time on weekend nights, since recently opening, and its own off-street parking lot is unable to handle the rush of cars that in turn must vie for slim spots along the street.

Daytime business traffic is sporadic at most times, but any combination of three cars or trucks can be seen having to yield right of way at most any time of the day or night.

A "low priority" has been placed on the bypass by the state, said Curran, but he contends that the transportation department would consider the savings involved and widen the street by four feet instead and sooner.

Along with the two plans, Curran said the road widening would allow the storm sewers along the street to be rebuilt and would also reveal any pollution violations from buildings that pump waste into the sewers.

Rondout Needs Bus Drivers

KYSERIKE

The Rondout Valley School district is in "great need" of both regular and substitute school bus drivers, a spokesman said today.

Holders of chauffeur two licenses are qualified to serve in this position, he said. Interested persons were asked to contact school business manager John Basten at the district office in the Middle School.

Check Grass Fire

Firemen were sent to East Union and North Streets at 6:45 p. m. Wednesday to quell fire in grass. Indian tanks and a booster line from Engine 3 extinguished the blaze. Fire records noted that the probable cause was a carelessly discarded cigarette. Deputy Chief Robert Mannes was in charge.

Gateway Part of a Cooperative Plan

KINGSTON
Cooperative use of community work training centers for mentally and multiple handicapped trainees marks a unique innovation in the State of New York as a result of a joint venture between Rehabilitation Programs Work Training Center in Poughkeepsie, Gateway Industries, Inc. in Kingston and the New York State Division of Vocational Rehabilitation area office serving the Mid-Hudson Valley.

Miss Catherine Grace, area director of the New York State Division of Vocational Rehabilitation; John Sullivan, executive director of Gateway Industries and Jerome Resnick, executive director of Rehabilitation Programs, Inc. have spearheaded coordination of their programs. In this way the plan would use the strengths of each of the Work Centers, save community funds by not having to develop the services already in operation and, hopefully, benefit more handicapped individuals in the Mid-Hudson Valley.

Gateway Industries specializes in prime manufacturing and sub-industrial contract operations work. Rehabilitation Programs specializes in service trades. In both communities, both organizations have noted the need of a number of handicapped individuals who might benefit from the services offered by the facility located in the other community some 22 miles away. At the same time, both privately sponsored organizations and members of the Ulster County and Dutchess County Community Chests desire to concentrate on their own specialized areas of demonstrated competence.

As a result of a number of coordinating conferences, the plan will begin during November, as follows:

Several handicapped individuals from the Kingston area will be transported to Rehabilitation Programs Center located at the Mental Health facility on the North Road, Poughkeepsie. At that point, a group of Rehabilitation Programs trainees will be transported to the Gateway Workshop in Kingston. The return trips between the two Work Centers will be made in the afternoons. The financial assistance made possible by the New York State Division of Vocational Rehabilitation will make this effort possible. Thus, the trainees from Kingston who have not shown aptitude, interest or ability to do factory assembly or manufacturing work will have the opportunity to be trained for commercial cleaning, wood working and cafeteria trades in Poughkeepsie. When proficient, the trainees will be placed in permanent employment in their respective communities in Ulster County. Conversely, the trainees in Poughkeepsie who show no interest or proficiency in the service trades, but show capability for factory and production work, will be trained in Kingston. When these people have gained proficiency they will return to Dutchess County for job placement and follow-up.

Miss Grace, Sullivan and Resnick are confident of the plan's possibilities. They further state that this innovation method of area cooperation may actually be a milestone for Work Centers throughout New York State counties—particularly in rural, semi-rural and small communities in counties where large diversified Work Centers are not found to be possible or feasible.

'Clean Pornography' Beneficial, Claims Trio of Psychiatrists

NEW YORK (UPI)—Pornography, far from harming people, might even be beneficial, a trio of spokesmen for the American Psychoanalytic Association said Wednesday.

The three—Drs. Bernard L. Pacella, Aaron H. Esman and Abram Blau, all psychoanalytic psychiatrists—briefed science writers on the Freudian view of pornography.

The United States, they said, could well profit by adopting the Danish law on pornography, namely an "anything goes" attitude that pornography in all forms is legal.

They said in the main they referred to "clean pornography" which involves only normal heterosexuality and nudity as having possible educational values, but stressed that pornography of whatever type was a harmless way for people to release tensions which if released in other ways could harm them and society.

However, carte blanche laws like the Danish which permit unlimited production and distribution of pornography "raise a multitude of questions important to society," said Pacella, chairman of the association's committee on public information. He said a federal commission could study them and recommend answers.

It could be appointed by the National Institute of Mental Health and should represent sociology, political science, psychiatry, psychology and the moral viewpoints of religious leaders, since many of the multitude are moral question, he said.

Zena Area Homeowners Association Lashes Out at Unfair Assessments

ZENA looked into the taxing procedure found according to chairman William Margopoulos that the system in use "... was simply not geared to 1969. It is a system adequately suited to 1929 when real estate values were low and property values static. However, since World War II, inflation, the big city exodus, and affluence has bid up property values in our small towns. The newer homes are being assessed and taxed at rates reflecting recent property values. However, older homes are assessed and taxed at rates of the 40's and 50's. This difference under current assessment practices may be as much as 300 to 400 per cent in tax dollars. "The Tax Committee study showed that in almost all cases, homes were reassessed only when sold. When younger homes are sold, assessments are calculated at 13 per cent of the sale price. However, when an older home is sold after years of single ownership, it often is reassessed at only six to nine per cent. Thus the recently sold older homes are not currently carrying a fair share of real estate taxes. "Another finding showed that a partially completed home when added to the tax rolls usually doesn't have the partial assessment raised when the house is completed. In addition, other properties with out-of-date assessments are also not carrying a fair share of real estate taxes," Margopoulos said. "Real estate tax system reform measures are being considered by both county and state legislatures. On March 6, 1969, the Ulster County Tax Base Study Committee noted the failure of local governing bodies to recognize the assessing function of the local assessor's responsibilities. The report suggests upgrading of the local assessor and the hiring of better qualified assessors," according to Margopoulos. At present, most assessors are elected to office. A state measure which has been defeated and is being rewritten is the Sen. Clinton Domink bill. Its major provision, according to Margopoulos, is the appointment of qualified assessors for a six-year term. He would have to meet minimum qualifications set by the state. In addition, the bill would require counties to prepare and maintain tax maps, the basis for a workable assessment system. The Association took action in 1969 because it appeared that no effort to correct the inequities would be complete for three years or more. It recommended attorneys Abraham Streifer and David Barnovitz as well as tax consultant Walter Donnaruma to the membership. Since the Association is non-partisan, all negotiations with the town by the committee, counsel and tax expert were handled without publicity to keep negotiations out of politics. However with the elections at hand, the news became a major political issue, the chairman said. One major party has chosen to capitalize on the opportunity. Association President Peter DuFresne stated, "Since the Republicans have been in power for decades, the Democrats have seized on our non-partisan efforts in correcting a problem of long standing. They are now using their legitimate contact with our work to advance their political position. "On the other hand, the Republicans are trying to discredit the Association through inferences that we could reduce the equalization ratio. As it turns out, the State Board of Equalization and Assessment has projected, before any of our actions, that the ratio will drop to perhaps 12 per cent from 13 per cent next year. It will drop unless—in their words—corrective action is taken to raise some of the out-of-date assessments so that they will carry their fair share of the load. I doubt that our town will act in time to prevent the indicated rise of eight per cent in school and county taxes which will result," he said.

Garden Club Awarded Prize For Attendance

WOODSTOCK The Woodstock Garden Club recently won a prize for its attendance record at the Third District of the Federated Garden Clubs of New York meeting. President Mrs. Harry Schmidt was informed that the Garden Club had also won a coveted prize for the excellence of its 1969 Year Book. The Year Book of any of the Federated Garden Clubs is the one that contains all the data pertinent to the club's activities for the entire year, including all the programs which are given at its meetings. Members of the Club are reminded by Mrs. Schmidt that the next and last meeting of the year will be held at the Overlook Methodist Church Hall on November 5 at 2 p.m. Election of officers will take place. Refreshments will be served.

Garden Club Session

WOODSTOCK Woodstock Garden Club will hold its final meeting of the season on Nov. 5, at 2 p.m. in the Overlook Methodist Church Hall. Mrs. Harry Schmidt, president; Mrs. Craig R. Vosburgh, vice president; Mrs. G. E. Wehlann, recording secretary; Mrs. Decker Bradshaw, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Otto F. Marquardt, treasurer, urgently request all the members to be present at this very important final meeting at which time new officers of the club will be elected. Various members will show slides.

Wellington Hunter presided at the meeting, at which time an interesting account of the District 20.0 fall conference was given by past president, Frank Greco. The conference, attended by some 350 Lions throughout the district, was held at the New Camelot Inn, the featured speaker being Alden Briggs, director of Lions International. The district meeting featured a luncheon, an afternoon program on various Lions' activities, and an evening

Monday Club Hears Report On Two Hobbies

SAUGERTIES Embroidery and needlepoint was the topic of this week's session of Saugerties Monday Club held at the home of Mrs. Dexter O. Arnold, 15 DeWitt Drive. Twenty-six members and two guests attended. Mrs. Inga Hayes, co-ordinator of art in the elementary grades of the Saugerties Schools gave a history of these two hobbies in America. She told of quilts and hooked rugs made by the early settlers; of the demand to day for unusual and well designed patterns for needle work and the unlimited supply. Pictures were shown of beautiful patterns available. The next meeting of the Monday Club will be held at the home of Mrs. John Lowther in Fish Creek.

MRS. ROBERT J. HINKLEY
(Hague Studio)

McMahon - Hinkley

Miss Patricia McMahon, 22 Schodack Drive, Castleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McMahon, 1 Adams Street, Rensselaer, became the bride of Robert J. Hinkley, 98 Spring Street, Kingston, son of Mrs. Richard Hinkley, and the late Richard Hinkley, on Saturday, Oct. 18 at St. Mary's Church, Clinton Heights, Rensselaer.

The Rev. James Toole officiated at the ceremony. Francis Teller provided traditional wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a satin brocade gown styled with a mandarin neckline, Empire bodice, Gibson sleeves and a skirt which draped into a court train. Her silk illusion veil was caught to a matching Camelot cap and she carried a cascade bouquet of carnations and a white orchid.

Mrs. Robert Burns, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a gold jakarta, Empire styled gown, trimmed with venise lace. Her circular veil was caught to a matching Camelot cap and she carried a cascade of bronze chrysanthemums. Attendants were Miss Catherine McMahon, sister of the bride, and Mrs. David Wilkie, Miss Lorie Jean Hyde, god-child of the bride, served as junior bridesmaids. Their moss green gowns were styled similarly to that of the honor attendant's and they carried gold chrysanthemums.

Miss Colleen Richmond, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a gold frock and a matching bow head-piece and carried a basket of mixed fall flowers.

Martin Daley, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Joseph Schneider, cousin of the bridegroom; and Robert Burns, brother-in-law of the bride. Michael Daley, nephew of the bridegroom, was ringbearer.

A reception was held at Cardinal Greens Country Club.

The bride is a graduate of Hoosick Falls High School and attended Albany Business College. She was employed by Luby-Brown, Inc. as a secretary. Her husband was graduated from Kingston High School and Moran's Business College. He is employed as an accountant by IBM.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Canada, the couple will make their home at Kingston.

Miss Elizabeth Ann McNaughton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McNaughton of Greenville, became the bride of Thomas Russell Bartolotta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Bartolotta of Germantown, Saturday, Oct. 18 at St. John the Baptist Church in Greenville.

The Rev. Michael McGarrabon of St. Helen's Church in Schenectady officiated at the double ring ceremony. William Omerborn, organist, accompanied Mary Lou Bartolotta, cousin of the bridegroom, who sang traditional wedding selections. Basket arrangements of chrysanthemums decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a peau de soie gown, fashioned with fitted bodice, high neckline, and long Camelot sleeves. The gown was accented with Alencon lace appliques and the chapel length train was bordered with matching lace. Her stylized headpiece held a silk illusion veil and she carried a cascade of white Fuji chrysanthemums and stephanotis.

Geraldine Gill of South Westerlo was honor attendant in an A-line gown of Caribbean blue velvet, styled with a scooped neckline and long Camelot sleeves. The empire waistline was marked with floral braid. A matching Dior bow held her tulle flirtation veil and she carried a cascade of pale green Fuji chrysanthemums with blue wheat trim.

Attendants were Ann Marie Cullen, cousin of the bride; Mary Ann and Helene Bartolotta, both sisters of the bridegroom. Their velvet gowns, headpieces and bouquets were fashioned identically to that of the honor attendant's.

Anthony Bartolotta of Cementon was best man for his brother. Ushers were Donald McNaughton, John McNaughton, brothers of the bride; and Armond Conti, cousin of the bridegroom.

A reception for 150 guests was held at Kilcar Restaurant, Norion Hill.

For her wedding trip to Nassau in the Bahamas, the bride selected a silk floral dress and camel-colored coat with mahogany accessories.

The bride is a graduate of St. Patrick's High School in Catskill and is employed by IBM, Kingston. Her husband, an alumnus of St. Mary's School in Hudson, is also an IBM employee.

Mr. and Mrs. Bartolotta will reside in West Saugerties.

Distaff Digest

Paltz Women's Guild

St. Joseph's Women's Guild of New Paltz will sponsor a rummage sale in the church hall, South Chestnut Street, October 30, 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.; October 31, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and November 1, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Y-Wives

On Thursday, Oct. 16, Y-Wives held a Halloween party and initiation of new members. Mrs. Thomas Palmer, with the assistance of Mrs. David Van Etten, led the club in many games and stunts. Everyone was in costume.

A business meeting was held with Mrs. Frank DiPietro presiding. Mrs. Herbert Reuner took the minutes, in the absence of the recording secretary. The treasurer, Mrs. Warren Vankleeck, reminded those present that club dues may be paid at any time. Mrs. Van Etten reminded the club of the upcoming bake sale. Mrs. Carl Nordstrom, chairman of the fall dinner-dance to be held on Saturday, Nov. 8, at the Capri, announced that reservations must be made by Oct. 31.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. William Barnes, Mrs. Ronald O'Neil, Mrs. Donald Boyce and Mrs. Frederick F. Burnett.

At the next meeting, November 6, the speaker will be Robert Post, chairman of the Americanism Committee of the American Legion Post 150, Kingston. A filmstrip, "Revolutionaries on Campus" will be shown. This program is designed to try to alert people to the problems that our young people are facing today, in reference to our democracy.

Card Party

Clinton Chapter No. 445, Order of Eastern Star, will hold a pinocle card party Saturday, Nov. 1 at 8 p.m. at Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue, Kingston.

Public is invited. There will be awards and refreshments.

Monthly Meeting

Ulster County Art Association will hold its monthly meeting at First Federal Savings and Loan Association, Fair Street, Kingston, on Tuesday, Nov. 4 at 7:30 p.m.

All members are urged to attend as plans for the Christmas party and dinner will be discussed.

Mrs. Sylvia Wiebke, chairman of UCAA, will be in charge and will appoint a nominating committee for election of officers for the coming club election.

Tillson Auxiliary

The Ladies Auxiliary to the Tillson Volunteer Fire Company will hold a food and bake sale on Election Day at the Tillson firehouse beginning at 9 a.m. and on Saturday, Nov. 15 the Auxiliary will hold a gala Christmas bazaar and fair at the Tillson firehouse from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

West Hurley Auxiliary

Awards and refreshments. Public is invited.

Penny Social

Catholic Daughters of America, Court Santa Maria, No. 164, will hold a penny social at the Knights of Columbus hall on Saturday, Nov. 8 commencing at 7 p.m. The public is invited. Awards will be given and refreshments served.

Mrs. Margaret Mitchell is chairman, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Provenzano, Mrs. William Zates, Mrs. Michael Felice, Mrs. Michael Augustine and Mrs. Salvatore Donato. Members are requested to donate awards and canned goods and those desiring prizes to be picked up should contact Mrs. Margaret Mitchell.

UNICEF NIGHT — Halloween night, ghosts and goblins, witches and clowns will be calling from house to house. Some visitors will be carrying little orange boxes in addition to their sack for goodies. These youngsters will be asking for "Trick or Treat" pennies to help other children around the world. Through the UNICEF Halloween night contributions, children without warm clothes or enough to eat will be given a ray of hope. It is hoped that the community here at large will open its heart to these youngsters when they "Trick or Treat for UNICEF" on Halloween night. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

NATIONAL SECRETARIES ASSOCIATION — The importance of secretaries being recognized as professions was emphasized at a meeting of the Colonial Valley Chapter, National Secretaries Association (International) on October 20. At the speakers' table were (L-R) Bea Edwards, program chairman; Marie Blank, president; and Doris Moore, New York State Division Treasurer and Colonial Valley Chapter's Board Contact. Mrs. Moore was guest speaker. A special feature of the evening was "Colonial Valley in Review," with each member participating. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Flowers an Expression of Sympathy

Dear Mrs. Post: Your article, which recently appeared in our local paper, really put the arrow through my heart.

Some of us make our living by selling flowers for funerals. I sincerely believe you should not knock another's profession or method of making a living. Have you ever been to a funeral that does not have flowers? At a time of bereavement only flowers can express the true feelings of the heart that the mouth cannot express. I, too, believe in charitable donations, but I don't believe they should take the place of flowers. — Keith Crittenden

Dear Mr. Crittenden: Let me hasten to say that while I do feel that a charitable contribution is a more lasting memorial, flowers are a fitting and comforting expression of sympathy. A funeral is at best a grim occasion, and the beauty of flowers can do much to lighten the surroundings and the heart of the bereaved, as well as expressing the thoughts of the senders.

"Talk to a Chef"

By Kenneth Wong

A Beef About Hamburgers

DEAR CHEF: I have trouble making hamburgers and chopped steaks the way I like them. If I don't cook them enough, they end up raw inside. If I do cook them enough, they turn out dry and greasy inside. But, here's what really bothers me: I recently ordered a chopped steak in a good restaurant. The meat was well-done, juicy and pink inside. I'd like to get the same result at home. What's the secret?

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: Your trouble begins with the meat itself. You can't expect beef to perform miracles after it has been chopped into a thousand little pieces. In this condition, its natural juices run out in the cooking and leave the meat dry.

Like all meats, chopped beef needs a little help to make it really fit to eat. Professional cooks do something very simple to make well-done hamburgers and chopped steaks that are, also, juicy and pink inside. Here is their secret: They add 3 tablespoons of canned tomato juice to each pound of raw ground beef. This keeps the meat juicy and pink when it is cooked; yet, it doesn't interfere with the natural beef flavor.

If you use anything beside pure tomato juice, don't expect the same result. There are chemical agents in some prepared tomato products that discolor meat in cooking and, also, drown out the natural beef flavor.

If you want hamburgers and chopped steaks that are fluffy, add 1/2 cup of fresh white bread to each pound of meat. Prepare it in this way: Soak the bread in lukewarm water until it is very soft. Squeeze it dry. Flake it over the ground meat.

You can hold the natural juices in the beef by mixing in a raw egg as a binder.

These extra ingredients add to the cost and the nutritive value of minced meat.

But, hamburgers and chopped steaks are so popular with all members of the family, it is a cheap enough way to keep them all happy and well-fed, too.

Chef's choice today... a savory ground beef dish that will add to your fame as a cook.

MEAT BALLS IN WINE SAUCE. Brown 1 chopped onion and 1 clove minced garlic in 2 tbsp. olive oil. Add 1 tsp. salt, 1/4 tsp. pepper, 1 tsp. oregano, 1 tsp. basil, 1/2 cup dry red wine and 1/2 cup dry white wine. Simmer 1/2 hour. Separately, mix 1 lb. ground beef, 1/2 cup white bread, 1 chopped onion, 2 tbsp. chopped parsley, 3 tbsp. tomato juice, 2 tbsp. grated Parmesan cheese, 1 egg, 1 tsp. salt and 1/4 tsp. pepper. Form into balls, brown and then add to sauce. Cook, covered, 10 minutes. Add another 1/4 cup dry red wine and cook 1 minute more. Serve over spaghetti or rice. Serves 4.

Mr. Wong welcomes your questions and comments, addressed to The Kingston Daily Freeman. He will answer letters of general interest in his column.

WOMEN IN POLITICS — According to Conservative Democratic candidate for Supervisor in the Town of Ulster, Robert Stedje, women are as interested in politics as men. Women do the shopping so they have to contend with the traffic congestion; they worry about play areas for their children and many of them pay the bills so they are concerned about taxes and the possible devaluation of their homes by the lack of zoning, Stedje told The Freeman. Mr. Stedje, who has been meeting the women of the community during coffee hours in various districts of the town says the exchange of ideas has been very informative and he has picked up a number of constructive and original ideas. If elected, Stedje has promised to use more women in local government. Pictured with him are (L-R) Mrs. Julia Castiglione of East Kingston, Miss Geraldine Early, Mrs. Evelyn Hunter and Mrs. Virginia Flanagan.

SAUGERTIES have criticized the Republican call for a return of responsible government to the town of Saugerties," McCaig added. "The present Democratic supervisor was ready to accept a landfill proposal by an out-of-town promoter without first asking for answers to some very pertinent questions regarding where the dump would be located; the side effects and the name of the company the promoter represented. After the town councilmen started asking these questions and checked into the background of the promoter, the present supervisor did an about face and announced he opposed the dump proposal. Is this responsible government?"	McCaig asked, "The questions raised by the councilmen prevented Saugerties from becoming a state dump. Yet every time the present supervisor is asked questions about proposals he makes, he cries that the councilmen are opposing him four to one. When they vote against his proposals because he doesn't	have answers to the questions they asked about his proposals, he shouts that he can't get anything done. The present Supervisor wants a docile Town Board so he can have his way with no questions asked. Is this responsible government?"	Board meetings, the present publicize the effect it would Councilmen. C. DAVID LOEKS

Pattern Urges Support for Amendment Two

NEW PALTZ
Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress, the seven-county citizens' regional planning and development corporation, today urged voter support of Amendment 2 on the November state ballot to increase the lending power of the Job Development Authority from $50 million to $150 million.

C. David Loeks, president of Pattern, noted that the seven-year-old Authority has granted a total of 25 loans to construct and rehabilitate industrial plants in the seven-county region, 11 of them in Orange County.

Quoting JDA figures, he said these loans totaled $3,073,150 and involved projects totaling $11,112,764. In turn, this created 1,082 new jobs and saved another 364 jobs.

Two of the largest loans in Orange County (each totaling $150,000) went to Spence Engineering Co., Inc. of Waiden and Active Specialty Corp., Newburgh. Other firms to receive assistance included VAW United Aluminum Works of America, Inc., of Ellenville, Ulster County ($294,000), and V and O Press in Hudson, Columbia County ($360,000).

The Authority was originally established in November 1961 by voter approval of another state constitutional amendment, and went into operation January 1, 1962 with a total state-guaranteed bonding authorization of $50 million.

As it stands now, JDA has only $1.4 million of borrowing power left, and could be out of business next year, Loeks said, unless the voters authorize increasing its lending power to $150 million.

years to increase its resources failed mainly through voter apathy, judging by the numbers of blank or void votes, according to Loeks.

The authority, which raises funds by selling bonds, has made 394 loans statewide for a total of $48.6 million through local non-profit industrial development corporations to aid construction of new plants or expand existing facilities. Its loans cover up to 30 per cent of the cost of land and buildings, with the rest to be obtained from banks and other private sources.

Governor Rockefeller indicated recently that the JDA had been responsible for adding some 16,000 new jobs in the state and of saving 5,000 jobs that otherwise would have been lost to other states.

The governor also estimates that increasing the JDA's lending authority could add as many as 36,500 new jobs to the state and save an additional 13,500 jobs.

JDA, in addition, according to Loeks, has a potentially important role to play in a regional development program being undertaken by Pattern, the state Urban Development Corporation, and Regional Planning Association of New York.

The program, which is scheduled to get underway early in November, will be concentrating on providing low and moderate income housing, industrial plants, commercial and public facilities for the seven counties on an area-wide basis.

"Jobs, housing, and industrial development will be related interdependently in this program," Loeks said, "with housing being a prime factor in increasing the labor supply, and in turn, creating a favorable climate for industrial expansion."

Howard Wittenbecher, chairman in the Town of Saugerties, in a statement this week suggested that the number of councilmen on the Town Board be increased from four members to six members, without increased expenditures to the taxpayers.

"Because of the increase in population in our town over the years, the problems have increased too, and I definitely feel that our Town Board should be increased from four to six councilmen in order to give better representation to more people. Because I believe this, let it not be said that a Democrat in this town will be guilty of added spending in order to give this better service. I can only approve of this if the present total yearly salary for the four councilmen is kept at the same allocation, but divided by the six representatives. In other words, we are now paying four councilmen $8,000 a year. I would like to see six councilmen on the board with no increase in the allocation," Wittenbecher said.

In a recent published article, the Republican candidates state that "this would definitely result in added expense to the taxpayers and is completely without justification."

Wittenbecher fails to see how there could possibly be added expenditures since it would, in fact result in a decrease in salary per man from $2,000 a year to approximately $1,333, but would increase the services to the taxpayers.

Apparently the chief concern of the Republican candidates is the decrease in salary, not the betterment of services to the residents of the town.

Wittenbecher repeats most definitely and emphatically that he will not approve of such a plan unless, "the present total yearly salary for the four councilmen is kept at the same allocation, and divided by the six representatives."

Attitude for Future

Thomas Hayes, Democratic candidate for District Five county representative, committed himself to bettering higher education and employment in Northern Dutchess	RHINEBECK County today. "Our young people just starting school this fall will be moving into secondary education by the end of this new decade," he said. "What facilities will be able to offer them to continue their higher	education and also seek employment in Dutchess County?" Hayes pushed his attitude as "for the future," acknowledging town planning committees education boards, and citizen committees having similar goals.

KINGSTON | present to present their day care centers for the city. Concerned residents also allied the aldermanic candidates with questions concerning what they could do for the 10th Ward. Interest was shown in the platforms of all the candidates.

More than 45 parents and interested citizens attended a candidates night sponsored by the Rondout Day Care Center Parents Committee Tuesday at the center, Grove Street.

The three majority candidates, Francis R. Koenig, Democratic Liberal; James J. Tyrrell, Republican and Bernard Singer, Conservative were around the possibility of more platforms. Also attending were Clifford Sinsabaugh, incumbent Democratic Liberal, and Richard Kelderhouse Jr., Republican, candidates for 10th Ward alderman; City Judge Hubert A. Richter, Democratic Liberal and Thomas F. Saccoman, Republican Conservative candidates for the city judicial post.

Lively discussion centered around the possibility of more

An open invitation was extended by the Parents Committee for the candidates to drop by the center during the day and have lunch with the children served by the preschool facility.

William R. Allen, Republican candidate for Town Supervisor has been hammering away at	RHINEBECK trustee of the Methodist Church, member of the Legion, VFW, and Rod and Gun Club.	Rhinecliff and American Neighbors	"At the time of this writing," he says, "my opponent has not debated any of my points. I can only assume that he agrees with me."
---	---	-----------------------------------	---

Allen defeated incumbent Rowland Sharpe in the GOP primary by a two to one margin, and has been eagerly giving his views on eight "key areas" ever since.

The Town of Olive Democratic Club will hold a rally and square dance Saturday at Olivebridge Firehouse at 8 p.m.

Judie Rank, rally chairman announced that the event is open to all residents and offers opportunity for voters to meet the candidates.

OLIVE efficient use of men and ma-

"None of the areas which I have covered need cost the taxpayers more money in order to have a better government," he claims. The areas include tax exempt properties, roads, communication with other branches of government, zoning, better contact with people, review of ordinances, and restructuring of the Town Board.

"I have maintained in this campaign and in the caucus contest that Rhinebeck's government must undergo a change in attitude," says Allen. "The most important task will be to get people to accept change. We must make the Town Board a working body with each man carrying out definite tasks."

Allen is proposing:

- "To be fair, honest and accurate with every property owner in our town and to make personal contact before any change is made. We will work to the end that each assessment represents a fair share."
- "To improve the quality of town roads and to insure a more port, in booklet form, which will summarize the receipts and expenditures of each department and include the vital statistics of the town.

"We will be receptive to the ideas of our experienced community leaders while actively seeking to recruit the talents of our younger citizens."

Allen feels that his job experience, 18 years with IBM in Kingston, enhances his background by the fact that "I must work with groups of people, be familiar with organizational techniques. There is always a better way of doing something, provided one is willing to learn and to change."

Zoning, one of the major issues in the near future, brings this response. "I support the principal of zoning and believe that Rhinebeck needs this ordinance; otherwise we run the risk of things happening which could seriously hurt our town."

"I am studying the proposed plans, however," he asserts, "and I want to hear from the people before I pass judgment on any ordinance. Our planning board has conducted informative sessions, and will hold public hearings."

Tom Seaver's Graceful Style

It's Seaver—Almost Unanimous

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tom Seaver, picked out of a hat by the New York Mets three years ago, today added a shiny crown to his glittering collection of honors when he was selected as the 1969 National League Cy Young award winner.

The 24-year-old righthander, who won 25 games this past season to help the Mets capture the National League pennant, received 23 of the 24 votes cast in the balloting to select the circuit's outstanding pitcher. The lone dissenting vote went to knuckleballer Phil Niekro of the Atlanta Braves.

Seaver originally began his career in the Atlanta organization, as the Braves drafted him from the University of Southern California campus in 1966. He was signed to a $50,000 contract, but it was then learned the Braves had violated a rule by drafting Seaver after the start of the USC baseball season.

William D. Eckert, then the baseball commissioner, voided the deal and offered Seaver to any team willing to meet the $50,000 offer. Only three teams expressed an interest—the Philadelphia Phillies, Cleveland Indians and the Mets.

The names of the three teams were thrown into a hat and the Mets won what has turned out to be the biggest break of their existence.

Seaver won 16 games in each of his first two seasons with New York, then blossomed into a legitimate star in 1969 when he won 25 games and lost only seven. He captured the opening game of the National League playoffs against Atlanta, then after losing the first game of the World Series to Baltimore, he took the fourth game, 2-1, in 10 innings.

Seaver's earned-run-average of 2.21 was the fourth best in the National League last season, and after a mid-four games in late July and early August, he finished the campaign with 10 consecutive victories as New York swept past the Chicago Cubs and ran away with the Eastern Division title.

In one key game against the Cubs, Seaver pitched no-hit ball until one out in the ninth inning when Jimmy Qualls broke it up with a single.

The Cy Young award has been in existence since 1956, when Don Newcombe of the Brooklyn Dodgers was honored, but it wasn't until 1967 that separate awards were presented to American and National League pitchers. Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals was the 1968 National League winner.

A 24-man panel, composed of two writers in each National League city, took part in the voting. The ballots were tabulated and the result announced by Jack Lang of the Long Island Press, secretary-treasurer of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Hill and Dockery Can Take It

UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lucky for them Calvin Hill and John Dockery aren't overly sensitive. They'd never make it if they were.

That's because both come from Ivy League schools and if there's anybody who draws more laughs from the football pros than somebody trying to make from an Ivy League school it would have to be somebody trying to make it as a drop kicker.

Hill, the Dallas Cowboys' spectacular rookie running back, is from Yale while Dockery, the New York Jets' ambitious young cornerback, is a Harvard man.

Both take kidding because of where they come from.

During weekday drills, some of the Jets needle Dockery:

"We're gonna have an Ivy League practice today. No contact."

Hill catches it from the Cowboys, too.

"You sure you went to an Ivy League school?" one of them will say to him if he makes a mistake.

"Then when I say yes," Calvin Hill laughs, "they'll say, 'Okay, say something smart!'"

The smartest thing in the NFL this weekend would be to stick with Dallas over Cleveland despite the fact they'll be playing in the Brown's backyard, the Cowboys still sport a perfect record and anytime a condition like that exists the chance of getting knocked off becomes greater.

Leroy Kelly creates a constant threat for the Browns but their deep secondary keeps getting burned too often and besides they'll also have to contend with Calvin Hill who even the Cowboys will tell you, comes from Yale.

Minnesota over Chicago—Bears are starting to talk to themselves.

New York over Philadelphia—Giants are at their best at home and have a good track record against Eagles.

Washington over Baltimore—Lombardi's troubles seem to be decreasing; Shula's increasing.

Los Angeles over Atlanta—Falcons are at least 20 per cent less effective minus Tommy Nobis, still nursing a bad knee.

Green Bay over Pittsburgh—The Packers' defense ought to do it if the offense doesn't.

San Francisco over Detroit—Steve Spurrier kept telling 'em he could play.

New Orleans over St. Louis—Saints are about ready to get on the board.

AFL

Kansas City over Buffalo—Mike Livingston says he's getting to like that quarterback job.

Boston over Houston—Although the Patriots bog down sometimes because they're trying to force it too much.

New York over Miami—Did you know the Jets have a ground game also?

Denver over San Diego—Chargers' offense sputtering and Broncos have a strong front four, a good quarterback and Floyd Little.

Cincinnati over Oakland—Paul Brown brings Bengals out of a mid-season slump.

The Colleges

To hear Vince Gibson talk, Lynn Dickey is the greatest.

Gibson coaches 10th-ranked Kansas State, Dickey quarterback; the Wildcats and they play 14th-ranked Missouri at Columbia, Mo., in one of Saturday's wild ones.

"We've got a great quarterback," Gibson says. "He's big, he's 6-4, he's over 200 pounds, and has a great arm and a lotta poise. He is a great throwing quarterback and one of the best in America. I don't believe I've ever seen anybody throw better in college and I coached at Florida State and Tennessee where they had some fine quarterbacks."

Vince Gibson may be getting a little carried away but that's his privilege. I'm picking Kansas State anyway. Like he says:

"People don't talk about losing around here anymore; they talk about winning."

Sounds like the Mets all over again.

Which reminds me, in some of the other big ones I like Tennessee over Georgia, Ohio State over Northwestern, Arkansas over Texas A&M, Notre Dame over Navy, Florida over Auburn and Southern California over California.

East: Penn State over Boston College, Army over Air Force, Syracuse over Pittsburgh, Harvard over Penn, Dartmouth over Yale, Princeton over Brown, Cornell over Columbia, Rutgers over Delaware, Colgate over Lehigh, Massachusetts over Vermont, Buffalo over Temple and Boston U. over Connecticut.

A Cold Night For Warriors

By United Press International

They call San Francisco the "air conditioned" city, but sometimes it can get downright frigid for the hometown Warriors.

Cold shooting at the start of the second period put the skids to the Warriors Wednesday night as they went six minutes and 15 seconds of the second period without a field goal and eventually dropped a 101-87 decision to the Chicago Bulls.

Chicago, although outshot from the floor, overpowered the Warriors' offensive thrusts with some smothering defensive tactics to go over the .500 mark in the Western Division. The Bulls held Nate Thurmond to only nine points and a single field goal in the first three periods.

Chet Walker scored 18 of his 28 points in the first half as Chicago took a 51-40 intermission lead. Jeff Mullins kept San Francisco in the game with 29 points. Newly-acquired Jerry Lucas netted 17 points and drew down 17 rebounds.

Philadelphia topped Baltimore 129-105 and Atlanta defeated San Diego 117-113 in the only other National Basketball association action.

Hal Greer, Philadelphia's 33-year-old perennial All-Star, scored 32 points and Jim Washington added 25 in beating the slumping Bullets, now 4-3. The 76ers won their fourth game in five starts this season with some fine floor shooting. Greer hit 14 of his 23 shots and Washington was 1 for 16. Mike Davis, Baltimore's rookie guard, paced the Bullets with 24 points.

Atlanta rallied in the fourth quarter to overcome Elvin Hayes 34-point performance for San Diego. Bill Bridges and Joe Caldwell keyed the Hawks' last stanza drive by combining for 24 of Atlanta's 31 points in the period. Lou Hudson led the Hawks with 29 points.

Hawk Booters Stun Oneonta Team, 2-0

ONEONTA Two third period goals clinched victory for the New Paltz booters. All America Bobby Hippy drove home the first goal at 1:10 in the second period.

The win completed the Hawks' SUNYAC (State University Athletic Conference) record with 3 wins and 3 losses. Coach Bob Durkin's squad has an overall mark of 4 wins, 5 losses and a tie.

"This was really a big one," said Coach Durkin, with a salute to Ed Sullivan. "Oneonta is always tough at home, but our boys have been gaining momentum against the tougher opponents."

New Paltz is running a four-game winning streak and closes out the season against two of its most formidable opponents — both at home — Albany State Saturday and Bridgeport U. next Tuesday.

Bridgeport Tough

"We expect plenty of trouble in each game," said Durkin, "particularly with Bridgeport. They held Al Miller's undefeated Hartwick College team to a 1-1 tie, the only blemish on the Dragon's record."

Hartwick has been ranked No. 1 college soccer team in New York for the past several weeks in the Associated Press poll. It has an 8-0-1 record for the season.

NEW COMMISSIONER — Jack Dolph and his wife, Jean, are all smiles after he was named the new commissioner of the American Basketball Association (ABA) succeeding George Mikan. Dolph, 41, has been director of sports for the CBC Television network since 1959. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Dolph Knows The Way Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Dolph, who started wrestling at 103 pounds and wound up in television's heavyweight class, has been chosen to lead the American Basketball Association's fight for survival in the professional cage game.

Dolph, Director of Sports for the Columbia Broadcasting System Television Network since 1959, was named commissioner Wednesday of the ABA, now in its third season.

The 41-year-old media veteran succeeds George Mikan, who resigned last July 14 after leading the ABA's battle for parity with the established National Basketball Association since the new league's inception.

Mikan, the former De Paul All-American and NBA superstar, is enshrined in basketball's Hall of Fame. Dolph's basketball career ended shortly after it began.

"I went out for my high school basketball team and the wrestling coach grabbed me," the new commissioner said. "So I wrestled for four years and watched basketball from the sideline."

The new commissioner will see his first ABA game Friday night at Denver as he begins a get-acquainted tour of the 11 league cities. After that, his primary concerns will include the procurement of a national television contract and the renewal of merger discussions with NBA chief Walter Kennedy, who broke off talks following the signing of several NBA players by ABA clubs.

"I've known Walter for 10 years I've been in New York," Dolph said. "We're quite close friends and I sincerely hope we remain so. I know we can talk — I'm sure of it on my part anyway."

"A merger has value to both leagues. In the future, economics may dictate it. Right now, we are neither counting on it, nor worrying about it. At this point, we can exist separately."

"We need television and I believe we have a product television can use. There are two basketball leagues, two football leagues, I believe there's room for both basketball leagues on television."

"I'm delighted we have a man like Jack," said James C. Gardner, the Carolina Cougars' owner and ABA president, who made the announcement of Dolph's appointment at a mid-town news conference.

Complacency Hits Jets And Ewbank Is Unhappy

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Jets have been hit with the same bug that affects practically every championship team—complacency.

Coach Weeb Ewbank admitted Wednesday that the Jets have shown a lack of motivation in most of their games this season, especially against the weaker teams on their schedule.

The Jets are on top of the Eastern Division of the American Football League with a 5-2 record, but they have not been as overpowering as one might expect from a world championship club. Only once this season, for example, has the team scored more than 30 points in a game.

Lack of concentration has been the team's biggest problem, according to Ewbank. He is not overly concerned about the situation, since the team has been winning, but he and his staff have been trying to emphasize that every game on the schedule is important.

"We warned them about complacency in training camp. Ask Red Schoendienst (manager of the St. Louis Cardinals). He can tell you what can happen to a championship team. The team has gotten to the point where they say if we have to we'll come through with a big one. But there are too many things in football—interceptions, fumbles—and you can't go on that philosophy," said Ewbank.

Ewbank said that the Jets have been keyed up emotionally only twice this season—for the opener against Buffalo and two weeks ago against Houston. But, he confessed that he gave up a long time ago trying to figure out when his team was fired up and when it wasn't.

"When I was an assistant coach I used to watch the team on the sidelines before a game and decide if they were keyed up. Too many times, though, the team would look ready, then go out there and get crushed. So I gave that up. You can usually tell early in the first meeting, then played the game, though, about the team's mental attitude by the crispness of their blocks," says Ewbank.

The Jets weren't sharp against the Boston Patriots last week and came close to losing, although they pulled the game out 23-17 in the last period. The Jets may have taken the Patriots too lightly since Boston has not won a game this season. This Sunday the Jets face another team with a poor record, the Miami Dolphins, because the Dolphins aren't bad as their 1-5 record indicates.

The Dolphins lost to Oakland by only three points in their first meeting, then played the Raiders to a 20-20 tie in their second meeting. They also were only barely beaten by San Diego, 21-14, and Kansas City, 17-10.

There is additional pressure on the Jets because Miami has never beaten New York since it entered the AFL in 1966.

"We're trying to stress not to pay attention to Miami's won and lost record," said Ewbank. "We want to be ready for the Super Bowl and we're pointing toward it, but I want them ready for Miami. If we're not ready, we're gonna get licked. We have the greatest respect for Miami. We think they would have a lot of wins if not for their injuries."

Roosevelt Shatters PHS Skein at Nineteen, 26-12

HYDE PARK — Mark Softy fired four touchdown passes to lead Roosevelt High to a stunning 26 to 12 upset victory over Poughkeepsie High here Wednesday.

The spectacular Roosevelt victory ended a 19-game winning streak for the Pioneers.

The win moved the Presidents into contention for the DSCL pennant. Arlington leads with a 4-0 record, with Poughkeepsie and Roosevelt now tied in the loss column with one defeat each.

After an exchange of punts, Roosevelt scored first on a 60 yard touchdown pass play from Softy to Jim Truck. The two point conversion failed. On the kick-off fullback Tony Johnson of the Pioneers fumble at the 16-yard line and Roosevelt recovered.

On the first play from the 16 Softy faded back to pass and let go. Steve Horn of Poughkeepsie intercepted at the five and sprinted 95 yards to tie the score 6-6. The two point conversion failed.

Staudermann Injury

Garry Staudermann was fading back to pass midway through the second quarter when he was rushed by six Presidents who caught up to him and hauled him down. The loss turned out to be bigger than anyone had expected because, when the tacklers rose from the top of Staudermann it was discovered that he had sustained an ankle injury and had to be removed from the game.

Staudermann's backup man, Jack Fisher, was intercepted at the Poughkeepsie 40 by Barry Krom. Two running plays gained nothing for the Presidents. On third and 10, Softy hit Dave Tice on a 40 yard touchdown pass play. Softy came back with a pass to Steve Scalzi for the two point conversion giving Roosevelt a 14-6 lead.

Second Half

Late in the third period Roosevelt punted and the ball bounced off Dennis Decutis at the Pioneer 15 where Barry Krom made the recovery for the Presidents. Pat Lehan hit the middle of the Poughkeepsie line for a two yard gain.

On second down Softy sent Tice into the end zone for a 13 yard touchdown reception. The two point conversion failed and the Presidents led 20-6.

Poughkeepsie was on a drive at the Roosevelt 27 early in the fourth period that started at their own five, when Lehan intercepted a pass thrown by Fisher and raced 56 yards to the Pioneer 17 before being pulled down from behind. Lehan then hit off tackle for five yards.

Softy then faded back and spotted Scalzi in the end zone for his fourth touchdown heave of the day. The extra point kick was wide and Roosevelt padded its lead to 26-6.

In the closing movements of the game Poughkeepsie worked its way to their own 42 yard line on three consecutive carries by Bob Johnson. Fisher then hit Steve Horn on a 58 yard touchdown pass. The extra point kick failed. The final score Roosevelt 26-12.

Play Saugerties Next

Roosevelt which has dropped one game while winning two, could be in for a surprise at Saugerties if they take the Sawyers to lightly this Saturday. Saugerties only shows one win in five games but, has been improving right along. In other games this weekend Arlington, a league leader in the DSCL, take on cellar dwelling Cardinal Farley. Beacon is at Poughkeepsie and has picked up an advantage with Staudermann on the injury list.

Impatient Palmer Ready for Kaiser

NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Arnold Palmer plunged into the third week of his comeback today with renewed confidence and a smile on his face, but plagued with a little impatience.

"No, I can't say I'm satisfied," Palmer said of his first two efforts after a two-month absence with an arthritic left hip.

He finished in a tie for 34th in the Sahara and a tie for 27th last week in the San Francisco Open. His total prize money for the two weeks was $1,174, not enough to pay the fuel bill for his private jet.

"I won't be satisfied until I start winning again," said the dynamic millionaire who is attempting to fight his way out of a prolonged slump. He hasn't won in more than a year.

But there have been some indications that the 40-year-old slugger gradually may be regaining the form that made him the game's all-time leading money winner.

He had a practice round 65, seven under par, and carded a sparkling 66 Wednesday, six under par, on the 6,849-yard North course of the Silverado Country Club, where three of the four rounds of the $140,000 Kaiser International Open Golf Tournament will be played.

Both the North and South courses, each with a par 72, will be utilized today and Friday, with half the field playing first one, then the other. The North course will be used for the final two days.

KHS Stops NYMA, 2-0

KINGSTON — Kingston High School's soccer team played a non-league encounter Wednesday afternoon against and shut out New York Military Academy 2-0, to extend their record to 12-2-1.

Pad Nugent sent the Maroons out in front with a goal on an assist from Harry Wynkoop at the 0:59 mark in the second period. The second Kingston goal was booted home by Tom Barton from just outside the penalty area 2:55 into the third period. Jim Corsones was credited with six saves while Bill Brittingham of N.Y.M.A. saved nine.

"Tom Barton played his best game of the year and Parris Beverly who had earned a starting role on the team played outstanding for us today," said coach John Hunter.

The Maroons journey to Newburgh Free Academy today for a DUSO game and must win to keep hopes alive in the league. The Maroons post a 5-1-1 record in the league while league leading Middletown has a 6-1-0. The Middies go up against Fallsburg, and a win for them would give them the DUSO league championship.

Coach Hunter and his squad said that a Fallsburg win is a lot to win, but they're hoping that the Comets might achieve a tie.

A Fallsburg Middle tie would give Kingston and Middletown duplicate records, necessitating a playoff.

If the Comets should pull the stunner of the season and knock off the Middies, well, that would rank with the World Series triumph of the New York

Mets—and the title would come to Kingston.

Marv Edwards—A Winner

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Marv Edwards had been kicking around the hockey minor leagues since 1954 until Toronto acquired him from Pittsburgh before the season as a possible replacement for retired goalie Johnny Bower.

If his early season showing is an indication of anything, the 34-year-old rookie should be sticking around the National Hockey League for awhile.

Edwards has been in the news three times this year—or for all three of Toronto's victories, including Wednesday night's 4-2 triumph over Boston that snapped the Bruins seven-game unbeaten string.

The East Division leaders outplayed the Leafs, but Edwards stopped 42 shots, many from his crease as Toronto prevented the Bruins from winning at Maple Leaf Gardens for the 23rd straight time in regular season play.

In other games, Minnesota knocked off Montreal 4-1, New York defeated Pittsburgh 3-1, Detroit checked Los Angeles 5-2 and Oakland took over first place in the West Division with a 3-1 conquest of Chicago.

Boston took a quick lead on Ken Hodge's goal with just 28 seconds gone in the first period, but the Maple Leaf's Murray Oliver scored less than a minute later and teammate Jim McKenney counted early in the second session to put Toronto ahead for good.

Ron Ellis and Dave Keon scored the winner's other goals, while Wayne Cashman scored for Boston in the final period.

Montreal took a 1-0 lead in the first period, but Ray Cullen, Danny Grant, Bill Goldsworthy and Lou Nanne came back with markers as the North Stars, who have beaten Montreal only three times in three seasons, prevented the Canadiens from gaining ground on Boston.

Jean Beliveau, Montreal's 38-year-old center, achieved a personal milestone by appearing in knocked off Montreal 4-1, New his 1,000 NHL game—the sixth season.

Bunning, dropped abruptly by the Dodgers last week, signed his new contract with the Phillies at a morning exercise and then explained to a press luncheon that he peddled himself to 22 clubs after he became a free agent.

"I wired everyone, except the Dodgers and the Pittsburgh Pirates," Bunning explained, a bit unnecessarily in that the Pirates had shipped him to the Dodgers last Aug. 15. He had eight repies and took his choice.

"A couple of things made me come to Philadelphia," Bunning said. "I had four good seasons here and my family likes it here. And money."

He meant cash, not Don Money, the hot young shortstop prospect who was the key player in the Phils-Pirates trade which sent Jim to Pittsburgh and brought the infliender and Lefty Woody Fryman to Philadelphia. Bunning said his release from the Dodgers was a severe jolt to him in that he was assured at the close of the season that he would be on the roster for next season.

"Al Campanis (Dodgers general manager) told me I was certain to be with the team," Bunning said. "Then last Tuesday he called me and said I was released outright. I received the letter the next day."

"I called Campanis and he said 'things have changed.' They were protecting three young pitchers.

Bunning, 38, who won 74 games in four seasons for the Phils before staggering through an injury ridden 3-4 year with the Pirates in 1968, had a 13-10 record last year. He was 0-9 with the Pirates and 3-1 with the Dodgers after the Aug. 15 switch to Los Angeles.

Gerlak, Hutchins PGA Directors

ALBANY
Alex Gerlak, veteran professional at the Twaalfskill Club of Kingston, and Jim Hutchins, long-time Woodstock Country Club pro, have been named to the 1970 Board of Directors of the Northeastern New York PGA.

Both were unanimous choices of their fellow pros at the annual election meeting held at Shaker Ridge Country Club in Loudonville.

Gerlak, who is now the dean of Northeastern pros, has served several terms on the board. During the past season, he had one of his greatest campaigns in 40 years.

Hutchins, who succeeded the late Warren Townley at Woodstock, is a past president of the Northeastern group and board director for several terms. He has been active in the organization for many years.

Smith Is President
Robert F. (Bob) Smith, head pro at Wolferts Roost in Albany, was elected president. He succeeds William Gressick of Pleasant View Country Club, who was named honorary president in line with Northeastern PGA policy.

Other line officers are: Ed Bosse, Colonie Country Club, first vice president; Claude Young, Winding Brook, second vice president; John Gaucas, Van Schaick Country Club, secretary-treasurer.

Also named directors were: Al Stein, Glens Falls; Marty Czaikael, Elmsmere; Larry Ostrander, Windham; Jack Maxwell, Stamford; Bob Haggerty Sr., Rexford; Glen Young, Guiderland; and Gus Grygiel, Oneonta.

Guest speaker at the meeting was national PGA treasurer, R. William Clarke, who discussed among other items, the National PGA Club Pro Championship which he predicted would develop into one of the greatest tournaments on the schedule.

With respect to the national tournament picture, Clarke said he felt the new czar, Joseph Dey, was doing a good job.

Ed Bosse's report on the New York State PGA Championship indicated a profit of $500 for each section and it was recommended the money be used for tournaments in the local sections.

Bosse also recommended the appointment of a tournament director for the championship, because it is too much work for one man to handle.

Air Force Falcons Solid Choice Over Army in First Michie Game

WEST POINT
Saturday afternoon at Michie Stadium may well be remembered for quite some time and for more than just the fact a football game will be contested there.

The Army team, fresh from a 38-7 victory over Boston College, will be there to complete the third leg of this latest home stand. So will rival Air Force Academy be there, marking the first time ever an Air Force team has met an Army team on Michie Stadium turf. And Air Force is a solid 10½-point favorite.

That's not all. A record crowd of almost 42,000 persons will be on hand to witness the fifth renewal in the series rivalry, while the American Broadcasting Company (ABC-TV) will add even more color and excitement to the game as it telecasts live the action on a regional basis to millions of homes throughout the country.

Kickoff at 1:50 P.M.

Air time for the ABC Television Network, which will feature the voices of Chris Schenkel and Bud Wilkinson, is 1:30 p.m., EST. The actual kickoff has been scheduled for 1:50 p.m.

Both coaches, Tom Cahill of Army and Ben Martin of Air Force, view the confrontation with some anxious thoughts. For one, there is the extra pitch because of the rivalry, young though it may be. Secondly, the four previous meetings all have been close, with no team scoring more than 14 points or winning by a margin of more than 11 points. And thirdly, the personnel on the current clubs provide every indication of another titanic struggle.

Currently Ranked 19th

Air Force, currently ranked 19th nationally by the Associated Press, will bring a 4-2 record and a three-game winning streak into Michie Stadium. The two losses were to Wyoming and Missouri, each ranked among the nation's elite, and by margins of just two points.

In senior quarterback Gary Baxter the Falcons have a solid performer. He presently is ranked 13th in the country in total offense with a composite of 1282 yards, and is No. 18 on the list in forward passing with 84 completions good for 1206 yards and nine touchdowns.

To complement the passing wizardry of Baxter, Air Force boasts a lightning-fast backfield comprised of flanker and Curtis Jennings at flanker and Curtis Martin at tailback. Jennings already has caught 38 passes and ranks fifth nationally in that department, while Martin is the team's leading rusher with 327 yards to his credit.

Air Force will have one other weapon at its disposal—that the kicking of specialist Dennis Leuthauser. A linebacker as well on defense, Leuthauser tops the club in scoring with 44 points, including nine of 14 field-goal attempts.

Wall Was Impressive

While Army hasn't passed nearly as much as its counterpart, junior quarterback Bernie Wall (East Brewton, Ala.) displayed some rather impressive credentials in the win over Boston College last Saturday. Enjoying his best day ever in an Army uniform, Wall connected on 13 of 21 tries for 209 yards in the process of hitting junior end Mike Masciello (Hicksville, N. Y.) with a five-yard touchdown strike.

has been its running attack, spearheaded by captain Lynn Moore (Ponca City, Okla.). A fullback for the first five games, Moore was moved to halfback last week and responded by churning out 183 yards, 82 of those coming on a touchdown sprint on the very first play from scrimmage. Moore added another touchdown in the third period, and now has seven to his credit.

In the six games Moore has netted 682 yards rushing, or better than 113 a game. Latest NCAA statistics list him sixth in rushing and 10th in kickoff returns with 359 yards in 17 returns.

Army's main strength to date

Cadets Host To Five Foes

WEST POINT
Seven Army teams will be in action this weekend and five of the contests will be played here at the Point. The Plebe football, soccer and cross country squads are in action here Friday along with the varsity soccer team, then on Saturday of course, Army meets Air Force at Michie Stadium.

Coach Eric Tipton's 150-pound football team stretched its record to 4-1 by whipping the Rutgers lightweights 27-10 Saturday at New Brunswick.

Halfback Jim Lovelace scored two touchdowns for the Cadets and rushed for 60 yards. The other Army scores came as Eric Jones went over from the two-yard line and later in the final canto when Jay Levine scored on a 4-yard run.

The Army lightweights will be idle for one week and then will entertain a strong Columbia team Saturday, Nov. 8, at Michie Stadium.

The Cadet booters were out-shot for the first time this season by Brown, but fought their way to a scoreless tie. Brown booted 20 shots to Army's 12. Army, however, out-numbered Brown's corner kicks, 7-6. Cadet goalie Dan Sicoletti was credited with 7 saves while the Bruins' goalie saved 10 Army goals.

Coach Joe Palone's booters now face an undefeated Air Force soccer team Friday at 4 p.m. at Clinton Field. Army has never been beaten by the Air Force in soccer competition.

Most of the cross country runners improved their times in the 15-48 win over Rutgers. Nick Sebastian, Bob Curran and Bill Henry finished the 5-mile course in 26:13, to grab the first three places for the Army harriers.

Coach Crowell's runners meet Cornell at Ithaca Saturday in a contest to be run on a challenging course for the Cadets. The approach to the finish line on the Cornell course is made on about a 70 degree incline and, according to Coach Crowell, "runners practically have to crawl up it."

Negro Feud Sizzling in Wyoming

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (UPI)—An attorney for 14 Negro athletes dismissed from the University of Wyoming said Wednesday chances for settling the matter out of court appeared dim.

William Waterman of Pontiac, Mich., said he would file a suit Thursday morning in federal court in Cheyenne seeking an injunction to force reinstatement of the players.

He said an alternate suit asking $1.1 million in damages would be filed in the same petition. Waterman has been threatening to file the suit since Monday. He said Wednesday he had delayed to obtain the players' signatures on the complaint. They signed at a meeting Wednesday.

"I believe they should be personally involved, at least to this extent," he said. Waterman said his proposed suit would seek $75,000 for each player plus $50,000 in punitive damages for a total $1.1 million.

"The chance for settling this out of court seems to be past," Waterman said.

It was learned Wednesday that four black members of the track team had instituted withdrawal procedures at the university.

Willie Black, chancellor of the Black Student Alliance at Wyoming, said Jerry Miller, Grady Manning, Huey Johnson and Bob Frazier were withdrawing from school as a result of the dismissals.

Public Hunting Areas Are Off to Fine Start

NEW PALTZ
The controlled public hunting areas in Dutchess and Putnam counties opened on Oct. 20. These controlled areas, comprising 8,000 acres in Dutchess and 13,000 in Putnam, are privately owned lands that are leased by the State Conservation Department for public hunting and fishing purposes.

To date, 1,139 hunters have used the Putnam Cooperative and 704 the Dutchess Cooperative. These hunters, during the first week of hunting, took the following species and numbers of game:

	Putnam	Dutchess
Pheasant	24	26
Woodcock	105	39
Squirrel	93	26
Grouse	72	30
Rabbit	81	32
Raccoon	8	2
Waterfowl	10	—
Quail	37	—
Red Fox	—	1

Warren H. McKeon, Regional 8 Supervisor, noted with particular interest that the woodcock and grouse take appear to be off to a good start for the 1969 season, particularly in the Putnam area. The numbers are slightly better on the Dutchess area this year than they were during the same period last year.

On Nov. 1, the Orange and Rockland Cooperative areas comprising 13,000 acres in lower Sullivan County, will open for the beginning of the bow season. During the period that the Orange and Rockland area is open, small game hunting will be permitted.

The Ten Mile River Cooperative Area located near Narrowsburg will also open on Nov. 1 and will close Dec. 2. This 14,000-acre area is open for deer and bear hunting only.

Permits may be obtained at the Smallwood permit station located south of Route 17B on Pine Grove Road at Smallwood, N. Y.

The Ten Mile River permit station is located on County Route 23 at the Davis Lake campsite.

Dear Abby

Define Word 'Hippie'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: In response to your request for a definition of the word "hippie," the following is rendered:

In one particular lawsuit "hippies" are identified as unconventional young persons in rebellion against conventional middle-class values who usually consort with their own kind and tend to symbolize rebellion through hirsuteness and picturesque garb. Sincerely,
SAN DIEGO ATTORNEY

DEAR ABBY: The word "hippie" has no meaning. It is simply another example of the American penchant for classifying, pigeon-holing and lumping together everything and everybody into convenient little categories.

In the minds of ignorant small-minded people, a "hippie" is equated with uncleanliness, drug addiction and the communist conspiracy. This image has become so implanted in the American mind that many people who wear their hair long and dress individually are harassed by the police, denied their civil rights, and have been violently attacked by their fellow Americans.

I have worn my hair long for two years, and I dress to suit myself. I bathe at least once a day. I don't use alcohol or drugs, nor do I advocate the overthrow of our government. In fact, I served in the United States air force and received an honorable discharge.

No one likes to be called a "hippie." I have a name. My parents gave it to me when I was born, and it suits me just fine. I know who I am. Thank you. "WILLIAM"

DEAR ABBY: A hippie is a runaway, a cop-out, an escapist. He has nothing to contribute to society and hangs around with people like himself, sharing that "nothing." He gives the appearance of being unwashed and his hair is long and wild. He dresses in a manner to attract attention while insisting that all he wants is to be left alone to do his "thing." (His thing is doing nothing.) He shouts about his "right" to discover his own identity and to be "himself." Then he turns on with marijuana and LSD, and can't remember where he's been or who he is.

A hippie is anti-establishment, anti-church, anti-conformist, and anti-everything. But if you line up these "individualists" side by side, you can't tell one from the other.

A 23-YEAR "OLD FOGY"

DEAR ABBY: A "hippie" is something that looks like a Jack, dresses like a Jill, and smells like a John.
JOE MILLER

DEAR ABBY: So you want to know what a hippie is? Please pay attention: "Un-toiled. One who sprang forth unattended, a random product of some indifferent mating process." Cheers! TOM LEARY

DEAR ABBY: Define "hippie." From one who has been involved in the "hip" scene fully for the past five years, I'll let you in on a little secret: There ain't no such animal. It was a creation of Time, Inc., to sell magazines. Sincerely, GARY G. TAYLOR, L. A. Cal.

DEAR ABBY: You asked for a definition of hippie? What's the matter with the three-letter word "BUM"?
L. A. TIMES READER

DEAR ABBY: "Define a hippie," you say. When I hear "respectable" (and narrow-minded) women my age making caustic remarks about "hippies," I have felt that this sort of confrontation has occurred again and again through history. So I finally broke into verse. Here is my poem:

"What are these persons bearded, shabby and not over-clean, who preach against our emperor, our legions and our shrines?

"My dear, they are a strange sect called Christians, I believe."

Cook it, kids, no lions this time. Merely jail or fines! I fear my sympathies lie entirely with the younger people. Sincerely,
HERMONA BEACH GRANDMA

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Horoscope

By SIDNEY OMARR

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1969

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Day features strict attention to detail. You must build on solid base. Accent on home, property, land. No short cuts. Be thorough. You could make valuable acquisition.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Travel seems to be on agenda. May be short journey connected with social occasion. Key is to be willing to move, try, experiment. Open yourself to experience.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): What seems like "sure thing" requires additional study, if not capital. Realize surface costs comprise only part of the story. You could get caught short if research is faulty.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You may need more room. Includes actual residence — and could also apply to intellectual efforts. Your desire is to spread, to increase, to multiply efforts. But don't go too fast.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You should not permit yourself to be "soft touch." Draw line between leniency and foolishness. Help those who are willing also to aid themselves. Then you are on right track.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Entertain friends without ruining budget. Avoid garish display. Accent quality and simplicity. Finish task which adds to your prestige. Be a sympathetic listener.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Be careful where diet is concerned. Heed qualified advice in this area. Your appearance is important. You get chance today for solid advancement. Avoid attitude of braggadocio.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Some changes of philosophy may be necessary. Backing which you expected may not be present. One who aided in past wants to go "on his own." Have alternatives at hand.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Emotions run strong; but your likes and dislikes are anything but constant. Day features change, expansion, pleasure. You are not likely to be too serious. Leave details to others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Avoid being overanxious. Don't jump at first offer. Not wise to commit yourself on paper. Get expert advice. Wise to play waiting game.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Follow through on schedule, program. Don't be distracted by one who merely desires fun and games. Recreation is important, but it should not be dominating factor.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Avoid extravagance. You can be beautiful. Surroundings without overspending. Key is planning and money management. Surprise gift brightens day.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are due to gain greater sense of direction. You are a dedicated individual. You are intense, loyal and you can exhibit a tendency to be jealous. You are soon going to be on a course which leads to greater personal fulfillment.

(To find out more about yourself and astrology, order Sydney Omarr's 50-page booklet, The Truth About Astrology, send 50 cents to Omarr Booklet, The Kingston Daily Freeman, Box 3240, Grand Central Station, New York, N. Y. 10017.) Copyright 1969, Gen. Fea. Corp.

Quick Quiz

sinecure (SIN-uh-CURE) a form of employment requiring almost no responsibility or labor

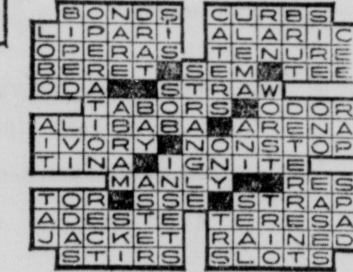

Not wanting to dismiss the aged employee after many years of faithful service, the company created a sinecure for the man.

The government is currently investigating those agencies which permit the existence of different types of sinecures.

Johnny to Cash in Again

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Notes to watch television by: The Headliners: Johnny Cash, the country-folk singer whose weekly show gained attention on ABC-TV this past summer, will return to the network with his series in late January. Pat Paulsen, the deadpan humorist who scored well on the Smothers Brothers show, will also have his own series on ABC-TV next year—a weekly half-hour of comedy sketches. Bob Hope finished No. 1 again in the national ratings with his latest NBC-TV special despite some rough notices. President Nixon's address on Vietnam Monday will be carried live by all three networks at 9:30 p.m. EST. Johnny Carson has an hour prime-time special on NBC-TV ranks. The new CBS-TV in 61st and ABC-TV's "The Survivors," a serial with Lana Turner as its chief name attraction, finished 79th among 87 rated programs. The Shows: NBC-TV's morning "Today" series originates in Washington, D.C., all next week...Siberia is the subject of CBS-TV's National Geographic Society hour Dec. 2. Same network's action series, "Mannix," beat the heralded movie "Tom Jones" in the New York Nielsen Ratings last Saturday night. "Tom Jones" in the New York Nielsen Ratings last Saturday night, which has yet after the film had flattened all to make a strong move, came the earlier-hour competition.

instead of his partner's suit, the chances are that they would let dummy's 10 win that trick. "What then?" asked the student. "I could cash three tricks in whichever minor suit I had started and also pick up three heart tricks. That would give me a total of eight but I would have to let East in again and he would be able to lead a spade to his partner." "Now I see," said the student. "I still have a lot to learn; don't I?" SITE OF SENIOR HOUSING — This entire block in the Village of Saugerties, along Main Street from John Street at left by the Saugerties Reformed Church to Washington Avenue at right is the site of the proposed $1 million senior citizens apartment building. A federal grant of $48,234 has been set aside by the Federal Housing Administration for the project to be sponsored by a newly formed non-profit local corporation, Saugerties Area Council of Churches originally sponsored the project. Construction is expected to start in the spring of 1970. The site will also include a four-unit apartment house on Washington Avenue. Plans call for from 60 to 80 low-rent units to be available sometime next year. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Paltz Candidate Forum — Non-Voters in Majority

By BRUCE KAUFMAN

NEW PALTZ — An inquisitive group of junior high school students proved to be a lively addition to an essentially mundane "meet the candidates" forum here, Wednesday night.

The forum, jointly sponsored by New Paltz League of Women Voters and American Association of University Women, was designed to introduce the various candidates for town and county political office to the interested voters of New Paltz.

However, while the turnout was substantial, the gathering itself was composed of more non-voting young people than eligible adult voters.

Included among the young people was a group of about 25 junior high school students who are studying the current election campaign in social studies class.

The forum, conducted efficiently by representatives of the two sponsoring organizations, consisted of short presentations by the various candidates followed by a rather free-wheeling question and answer period.

The incumbents — all Republicans — outlined their achievements as elected officials, while the challengers and new candidates — mostly Democrats articulated their ambitious political programs.

The most interesting discussion centered on the races for town justice and County Legislature.

Incumbent Town Justice Rexford Schneider concentrated his remarks on the growing drug usage problem in the town, explaining that the best way to counteract the problem would be through an extensive educational program.

During the question period, Schneider was asked if the justices themselves should receive special education on drugs.

"No," he replied, adding that "the experience in my office gives me full knowledge of the problem."

Schneider's Democratic opponent, Arthur Bouchard, said that he was basing his campaign partly on the "justice gap in New Paltz."

Bouchard leveled an implicit blow against the incumbent on the drug issue by commenting that "New Paltz needs a town justice more interested in justice than in meting out punishment."

Among the three candidates — two Republicans and one Democrat — running for two seats on the Ulster County Legislature (District 8), the most hotly disputed issue was the county sales tax.

Both Republican candidates, Peter Savago, an incumbent and Louis Bevier, said that they favored the tax as a financial necessity.

Savago, who is also chairman of the County Legislature, said that the sales tax is needed to counteract the impact of a marked increase in county expenditures.

Rosendale Ends Work on Zoning

By SHANE CROSBY

MAPLE HILL

In a brief session in the town community building here Wednesday, the Rosendale Zoning Commission said it has completed work on its proposed Zoning Ordinance for the Township and will present the proposal to the town board Nov. 5.

Commission Chairman Howard Mansfield told the fewer than 20 persons at the session, "We are not trying to sell anything, our purpose is to present what we feel is an acceptable proposal" for zoning and regulation of subdivisions in the township. Mansfield said the proposed law "protects all of the townspeople" and reminded those present that "it is not binding on any existing situation, it is not retroactive."

The proposal was developed with the assistance of the now disbanded consulting firm of Brown and Anthony City Planners of Ft. Lee, N. J., and the commission. It took about three years. The proposal controls the location, construction, alteration, occupancy and use of buildings, businesses and land in the town through zoning districts.

The town board is expected to hold a number of its own public hearings on the ordinance after acceptance at Wednesday's board meeting.

Minor changes were made to the ordinance and the commission presented a two-page list of changes that included 10 land use changes and three typographical corrections.

The changes, said Mansfield, resulted mostly from two previous hearings the commission has held during development of the law.

A Special Use Permit will now be required for single family dwellings in the R-1 and R-2, one-half acre and 12,500 sq. ft. zones, according to one of the changes, where they were allowed without permits previously.

Other changes include the requirement for special use permits to allow professional, business and banking offices into zones A (one and one-half acre) and R-1, as well as retail stores and shops. Site plan approval

Got an old record?
Bring it in and we'll thrill and delight
you!

How? It's simple. We'll play it on the amazing new Harman-Kardon SC-2020 compact stereo music system. And then don't be surprised if you hear instruments on the old record you never knew were there. Or a depth and dimension of music that you never knew was there. You see the SC-2020 is a new breed of music system. It's not very large. And it isn't terribly technical looking. But what it does to music can only be described as incredible. It makes music come alive... reach out and grab you.

And not only with records. The SC-2020 also has an ultra-sensitive FM/FM stereo radio. And two of the most exciting new speakers we've ever heard. All designed into a system that takes up a minimum of space and produces a maximum of sound. But descriptions don't mean a thing. Bring in an old record. You won't believe your ears. (And you probably won't believe the price of the SC-2020 either.)
